Historic inquiry ended by panel

Impeach charges go to House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Proclaiming that President Nixon "warrants impeachment and trial and removal from office," the House Judiciary Committee has ended its historic inquiry with a three-part resolution to be sent to the House.

In it the committee recommends Nixon's impeachment for obstructing justice, misuse of his powers and failing to obey its committee subpoenas for evidence.

Debate in the House will begin in about two weeks.

The three articles would redefine and limit the power of the executive. They are the first to be sent to the House since President Andrew Johnson's impeachment during the Civil War reconstruction period more than a century ago.

The third impeachment article relating to the subpoenas was approved Tuesday by a narrow 21-17 vote.

The three articles of impeachment charge Nixon with "high crimes and misdemeanors" by:

—Obstructing justice in covering up the Watergate affair, the break-in of Democratic national headquarters June 17, 1972, once described by a White House spokesman as just a "third-rate burglary."

—Abusing his powers through misuse of federal agents and agencies to violate constitutional rights of citizens by wiretapping, income tax audits and other activities.

—Refusing to comply with committee subpoenas for 147 tape-recorded conversations and other material sought as evidence by the inquiry.

Before the committee concluded its inquiry, it rejected as impeachable offenses proposed articles recommending impeachment for concealing the bombing of Cambodia from Congress, and perpetrating tax fraud by underpaying his income taxes. Both were defeated 26-12.

The committee's recommendations first must face the formality of passing through the House Rules Committee before making their way to the House floor.

A majority vote is needed in the House to impeach the President. The Senate then would conduct a trial, in which a two-thirds majority would be needed to convict and remove Nixon from office.

The House committee's proceedings ended with a rap from the gavel of Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr. and his ruling that "This concludes the work of the committee."

As he filed out of the committee room, Rep. Charles E. Wiggins, R-Calif., Nixon's leading defender during the six days of debate and voting on the impeachment articles said: "At the moment, I would have to say the odds are that the House would pass them."

The final day of the committee's deliberations saw a break-down in the bipartisan coalition that adopted the first two articles by votes of 27 to 11 and 28 to 10. The committee has 21 Democrats and 17 Republicans, all lawyers.

Although the second-ranking Republican, Rep. Robert McClory, R-Ill., offered the article dealing with subpoenas, it won the support of only one other Republican, Rep. Lawrence Hogan of Maryland. Hogan was the only Republican to vote for all three articles adopted.

Rep. Thomas Railsback, R-Ill., a leader in the bipartisan effort to pass the first two articles, accused the majority of engaging in "political overkill" in trying for more articles.

When the Cambodian bombing and tax fraud articles were called up, Railsback said the Democrats were endangering Republican support on the floor for any articles. He said later the defeat of the articles had removed that danger.

In urging adoption of Article III, McClory said Nixon's refusal to comply with eight committee subpoenas for 147 taped conversations was an act of

PROCEDURE MEETING — Senate leaders meet in Washington D.C., to decide possible impeachment procedures, if the House of Representatives vote to impeach President Nixon. The senators are, from left, Robert Byrd, D-W.Va., Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., majority leader; Hugh Scott, R-Pa., minority leader, and Robert Griffin, D-Mich.

Panel debate sparks impeachment future

WASHINGTON (AP) — In its wordy windup, the House Judiciary Committee got in some debate that will affect the kind of impeachment case it takes to the House floor and possibly the Senate and may touch other presidents far into the future.

The committee considered three articles of impeachment Tuesday and adopted only one, an item recommending that President Nixon be impeached for refusing to turn over evidence it has subpoenaed.

Although it passed by only a 21-17 margin and faces rough going in the House, the subpoena article involves probably the most important constitutional issue of the impeachment controversy.

However it turns out on the floor or in a Senate trial, the subpoena question ultimately will write new constitutional law that will tell presidents just how valid the doctrine of executive privilege is in resisting impeachment. But two other articles—Cambodian bombing and the President's income taxes—probably are just as important for the fact that they didn't pass.

Although both items were debated at length, they were defeated with solid Republican opposition and considerable Democratic defection.

Proponents of the articles seeking impeachment for secret 1969 bombing in Cambodia and the President's underpayment of income taxes by more than $400,000 over the past four years knew they would lose before they started, but they pressed on for tactical reason.

The tax question particularly, debated in prime television time, allowed impeachment forces to fully explore one of the subjects shown by the polls to be most sensitive to the American people. If it did not pass, it was nonetheless expected to make the viewing audience just a little more susceptible to impeachment fever.

But Cambodia and taxes, and to a degree subpoenas, served another important function—allowing committee members who have been against the President on key votes since last Wednesday to vote for him in a situation where it couldn't matter less.

This appearance of fairness, of voting according to the issue and not a blanket bias, is important for most members of Congress in an election year in which they face one of history's most difficult decisions. Only members with the strongest constituency support voted a straight party line this past week.

Many House members also have let it be known that they would be less inclined to vote impeachment if the committee recommended what they considered frivolous, patently partisan, or unsubstantiated charges.

Many considered Cambodia, taxes and impoundment of funds in this category. Consequently, the impeachment leaders had no intention of letting them get to the floor. The latter was not even proposed in the six days of

JOHN EHRLICHMAN

Ehrlichman sentenced

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former presidential assistant John D. Ehrlichman was sentenced to a minimum 20 months in prison today on his conviction for conspiracy and perjury in the Ellsberg break-in case.

U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell set 20-month to five-year sentences to run concurrently for each of the three criminals counts for which Ehrlichman was convicted.

G. Gordon Liddy, a member of the White House plumbers unit which carried off the break-in, was given a one-to-three-year sentence, but it is to run parallel with other sentences handed Liddy in the original Watergate break-in case. Thus it does not add any time to what Liddy already had to serve.

Gesell said two other convicted members of the plumbers group, Miamians Bernard L. Barker and Eugenio R. Martinez, "were duped by high government officials" and gave them suspended sentences.

Ehrlichman and the others were convicted of violating the rights of Dr. Lewis J. Fielding, the Beverly Hills, Calif., psychiatrist who treated Ellsberg, a former Pentagon analyst.

The Plumbers, a special White House investigative unit, broke into Fielding's office in a fruitless search for the medical records of Ellsberg, who leaked the Pentagon Papers study of the Vietnam war to the press.

Ehrlichman said within minutes of his conviction that he had directed his attorneys to prepare an appeal. The former Seattle zoning lawyer also is among the defendants in the Watergate cover-up trial, now scheduled to begin Sept. 9.

Pet show opens four-day festivity

Old Fashioned Days launched here

"We've been real busy... the store's been pretty crowded all morning."

That capsuled the comments of central business district store owners, managers and clerks in answer to the question: "How is the opening day of Old Fashioned Bargain Days?"

The consensus of those questioned in a spot check at six different types of downtown stores was that many of the customers came early to take advantage of the bargain-price merchandise; many were waiting at the doors when the stores were opened at 9 a.m. and the shoppers kept coming in increasing numbers throughout the morning.

WEDNESDAY was the first of four Old Fashioned Bargain Days here which will combine sociability, good times, entertainment and, above all, bargains reminiscent of the good old (pre-inflation) days.

The opening day was marked by a show of boys and girls and their pets on the sidewalk on the west side of the Courthouse. Most of the area was crowded with youngsters (some with their pets and some not) and some adults, most of them parents chaperoning their children.

The show was judged in five categories; cash awards of $5, $3 and $2 went to first, second and third place in all categories.

The second day of Old Fashioned Bargain Days will feature a bike parade at 9:30 a.m. Thursday through the Washington C. H. business district. The judging will be in two categories — best decorated bike and most original decorated bike. Awards will be $5, $3 and $2 for the first three places in each category.

Immediately following the parade, the Farmer's Market will open at 11 a.m. on the sidewalk on the west side of the Courthouse. Everything in the market will be either homegrown or homemade.

Memories and stories of those "good old days" will be revived by the sidewalk sales Friday and Saturday. Merchandise of all kinds will be displayed in front of the stores and clerks will be in the costume of those early days.

The ice cream social, which has come to be one of the major features of Old Fashioned Bargain Days, will be held by the Washington C. H. Kiwanis Club, starting at 4:30 p.m. Friday.

The closing day of the event on Saturday will feature an antique car show on Main Street, north to Temple Street; beef barbecue sandwiches served by the Washington C. H. Shrine

Turks, Greeks reach accord

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — Greece and Turkey have signed a military disengagement agreement for Cyprus providing for indefinite partition of the island, the indefinite presence of the Turkish invasion force and a United Nations buffer zone around the territory occupied by the Turks.

The agreement signed by the foreign ministers of Britain, Greece and Turkey on Tuesday after six days of negotiations also put no brake on the landing of foreign troops or supplies on Cyprus.

A spokesman for the United Nations peacekeeping force reported the Turks brought in more reinforcements on Tuesday, and a high-ranking Western diplomat in Nicosia estimated the Turkish force at 40,000 men and 300 tanks.

The three governments agreed to begin further talks in Geneva on Aug. 8 to restore constitutional government to Cyprus. They said representatives of the Greek and Turkish Cypriot communities would join two days later, and Greek Foreign Minister George Mavros said the Greek Cypriots would be represented by their present president, Glafcos Clerides, not by ousted President Makarios.

Vice President Rauf Denktaş, the unchallenged leader of the Turkish Cypriots, will represent them, Mavros said.

Although Turkey gave up nothing, Greek Premier Constantine Karamanlis said he was satisfied with the agreement because it "puts an end to hostilities" and "can mark the starting point of a fair settlement of the Cyprus issue."

Archbishop Makarios complained that the provision concerning Turkish withdrawal was "very vague." Clerides was not available for comment, but initial reaction among the Greek Cypriots in Nicosia was suspicious.

The agreement provided that:

1. The opposing military forces will not extend their territory beyond the limits held Tuesday night when the agreement was signed;

2. A security zone manned by U.N. forces will be established around the enclave of approximately 200 square miles seized by the Turkish invasion force on the north coast, including the port of Kyrenia;

3. All Greek and Greek Cypriot forces in Turkish enclaves will be evacuated immediately, and U.N. forces will protect the enclaves;

4. U.N. forces will protect all other Turkish enclaves as well as villages containing both Greek and Turkish Cypriots.

The agreement also provided for the TONY K. BAIRD — Services for Tony K. Baird, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Baird, 744 Dayton Ave., were held at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday in the First Baptist Church with the Rev. Ralph Wolford, pastor, officiating. The youth died Saturday in a motorcycle accident in Preble County.

Mrs. Paul Brunner was the organist and a group of the youth's motorcycling friends formed an honor guard. Pallbearers for the burial in Highlawn Memory Gardens were Kevin Storm, Don Johnson, Randy Johnson, Mike Hughes, Dennis Watson and David Ellis. Burial was under the direction of the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home, Washington C.H.

Ford sees leadership vacuum

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — Henry Ford II says the impeachment proceedings against President Nixon have created a vacuum of economic leadership in Washington, hurting auto industry sales.

But the chairman of Ford Motor Co. predicted on Tuesday that despite the impeachment move, the 1975 model year would see a "gradual slowing of inflation" and a boost in U.S. auto sales by up to one million units over the current model year.

Ford, who supported the President's re-election effort in 1972, would not say whether Nixon should resign or be removed.

"I have no comment on that," he said.

"Generally speaking there's been a lack of confidence on the part of the consumer. There's no question it's there and it has affected car sales of 1974."

Ford made his remarks at a news conference during the company's preview of its 1975 model cars which go on sale Sept. 27.

He also said the company would reduce its capital spending in the United States next year by more than $220 million because of disappointing profits, rising costs and the prospect for only a modest increase in car sales in 1975. Ford's current capital spending in the United States is $650 million. Current worldwide capital spending is about $1 billion and next year's will be cut from 5 to 8 per cent, Ford said.

Name Hughes in indictment

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Billionaire Howard Hughes and three others have been charged with conspiracy, stock manipulation and fraud by a federal grand jury that made an aboutface in 24 hours.

The grand jury accused the four men on Tuesday of trying to force down the value of Air West stock to make it easier for Hughes to gain financial control of the regional airline. Now called Hughes Airwest, Hughes took it over on Dec. 31, 1968.

The charges are a streamlined version of an indictment returned last Dec. 27 which was thrown out by a federal judge. He termed it "the worst case of criminal pleading" he had ever seen.

When the charges were thrown out Jan. 30, the jury was given six months to return a new indictment, a time limit which expired Tuesday midnight.

The grand jury, the same one that handed down the original charges, had met Monday but returned no indictments.

Chilean trials come to end

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — The largest trial in Chile's history has ended with death sentences for the former head of the state bank and three air force men.

Prison sentences ranging from 300 days to life also were ordered Tuesday for 56 other alleged supporters of the late President Salvador Allende.

Three defendants were acquitted. The court-martial panel of six air force officers sentenced Carlos Lazo, 46, Col. Ernesto Galaz Guzman, 46, Capt. Raul Vergara, 31, and Sgt. Belarmino Constanzo, 43, to death by firing squad. Lazo was convicted of treason and espionage; the air force men were convicted of treason and sedition.

Ten of the 63 defendants were civilians and the rest were air force officers or enlisted men. The charges against them ranged from possession of Marxist literature to high treason. Many were linked to Plan Z, an alleged plot by militant leftists to murder military officers and anti-Communist politicians to pave the way for a Marxist dictatorship.

The death sentences are subject to review by Gen. Augusto Pinochet, chief of state and president of the military junta that overthrew Allende last September.

Lawyers to request tapes withholding

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's lawyers are planning to urge U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica to withhold parts of 20 surrendered Watergate tapes from special prosecutor Leon Jaworski.

Nixon's chief attorney, James D. St. Clair, said he expects to submit an index and analysis of the tapes to Sirica today.

St. Clair told reporters Tuesday the extent of the claimed privilege is "not significant."

The President's counsel responded to questions after delivering to Sirica the first batch of 64 taped conversations Jaworski subpoenaed.

The Supreme Court last week upheld Sirica's order that Nixon relinquish the material for his private inspection to determine which parts should be delivered to Jaworski as evidence for the Watergate cover-up trial.

After the 35-minute hearing Tuesday, St. Clair conceded that there may be at least one gap in the recorded conversations.

The recording of a meeting April 17, 1973, among Nixon and his then closest advisers, H.R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman, is contained on two separate tape reels, St. Clair told the court.

A notation attached to the tapes indicated that the first reel ran out and was removed midway through the meeting.

"If that was the case, it would appear there may be a part of that conversation missing," said Asst. Prosecutor Richard Ben-Veniste.

"I have no reason to believe that is so," St. Clair replied. "I will have to check it."

Impeachment

"stonewalling" that threatened the impeachment process itself.

And Hogan said it raised the most important issue in the inquiry. "If we do not pass this article the whole impeachment process becomes meaningless," he said.

But other Republicans, although they had supported the issuing of the subpoenas, said Nixon's failure to comply with them was not a serious enough offense to warrant impeachment by itself.

Rep. William S. Cohen, R-Maine, said he would support a move on the House floor to add Nixon's failure to comply to either the obstruction of justice or the abuse of power articles, both of which he had supported.

Rep. M. Caldwell Butler, R-Va., another backer of the first two articles, said Article III offended his sense of fair play.

"The adoption of Articles I and II will have placed the issue of whether the President should be removed before the Senate," he said. "We don't need any more articles."

Some Democrats agreed, notably Reps. Walter Flowers, D-Ala., and James R. Mann, D-S.C., who voted against Article III, and after the vote Rodino held a caucus of Democratic members to see if an agreement could be reached to call a halt. It could not.

Since the inquiry began last winter different members have staked out different areas of interest, and the secret bombing of Cambodia and Nixon's underpayment of his income taxes had a solid nucleus of support among the Democrats as possible impeachable offenses.

Rep. John Conyers Jr., D-Mich., who offered the Cambodian bombing article, said concealment of the bombing from Congress and the American people "presents indisputable evidence of impeachable conduct."

The debate over the article produced melancholy echoes of the debate over the Vietnam War, with most Republicans pointing out that Nixon inherited it from former President Lyndon B. Johnson.

"You want to throw him out because he ended the war," said Rep. Charles W. Sandman Jr., R-N.J. "Anybody else would get a medal, but you want to impeach him."

Rep. Elizabeth Holtzman, D-N.Y., said it was not the bombing itself, but the concealing of it from Congress and the falsifying of official records that warranted impeachment.

All 12 votes for the article were cast by Democrats. Nine other Democrats, led by Rodino, joined the 17 Republicans in defeating it.

Rep. Edward Mezvinsky, D-Iowa, and Rep. Jack Brooks, D-Tex., led the effort to add an article covering Nixon's taxes and the use of government funds to improve his private property at San Clemente and Key Biscayne to the impeachment resolution.

Mevzinsky said both criminal wrongdoing and abuse of presidential powers were involved in the backdating of a deed to make valid a gift of pre-presidential papers, for which Nixon claimed a $576,000 income tax deduction.

After an investigation, the Internal Revenue Service disallowed the deduction and billed Nixon for $432,787 in back taxes.

"The President has set us a very sorry example," said Rep. Wiley Mayne, R-Iowa. "Even if it was technically legal, it was highly improper to claim such a huge deduction for his personal papers. But much as I deplore it, the question is, did he commit fraud?"

Mayne said he did not, but only followed the advice of tax experts.

The long inquiry began officially last October when impeachment resolutions were assigned to the committee. It really got going for the members last May 9 when the staff began presenting the evidence it had gathered.

It ended at 11:08 p.m. when Rodino rapped his gavel.

He told reporters later, "Every time you change a tape, you're going to have down time."

Sirica agreed to provide the prosecutors copies of identifying labels attached to the surrendered tapes. Ben-Veniste asked for the information to determine whether Nixon met the requirements of the subpoena in the first batch of tapes.

The set of recordings covers 20 conversations involving Nixon, Haldeman, Ehrlichman and former White House counsel John W. Dean III in March and April 1973. The White House last April made public edited transcripts of these tapes.

St. Clair now has given Sirica the 11 six-hour tape reels with the original recordings of these conversations, plus duplicate tapes of the Watergate conversations alone.

Another 13 conversations of the 64 are due in court Friday. Although Nixon still is examining those, St. Clair said he expects to meet the deadline.

The subpoena also demanded related memoranda prepared by Nixon, Haldeman, Ehrlichman and Dean. St. Clair said all the papers will be relinquished but that White House personnel are still searching for some of them.

Governors hail budget plan as cooperation breakthrough

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — White House agreement to consult state and local officials in the federal budget-making process has been hailed by governors as a breakthrough in federal cooperation.

The first of a series of meetings on the budget involving state and local representatives will be in Washington shortly after Sept. 1, Kenneth R. Cole Jr., President Nixon's chief economic adviser, said Tuesday at the 1974 Western Governors' Conference here.

"We're looking for their input, their suggestions on things to be done and where programs can be cut," Cole said in discussing the plan with Govs. Calvin L. Rampton, Utah Democrat and chairman of the National Governors' Conference, and Daniel J. Evans, Washington Republican.

Evans, chairman of the national conference last year, said the decision represented a new spirit of cooperation between the Nixon administration and other levels of government and a recognition of growing leadership at the national level by the 50 state governors.

The budget meetings will involve federal officials and the "New release or exchange as soon as possible of all "military personnel and civilians detained as a result of the recent hostilities."

The provision concerning withdrawal of foreign forces states that "within the framework of a just and lasting solution acceptable to all parties concerned and as peace, security and mutual confidence are established in the Republic of Cyprus, measures should be elaborated which will lead to the timely and phased reduction of the number of armed forces and the amounts of armaments, munitions and other war material in the Republic of Cyprus."

formal debate.

The subpoena charge, although controversial, is a different matter. It poses crucial and fundamental questions and was proposed by the second-ranking Republican member of the committee.

President Nixon raised in this case the doctrine of executive privilege to deny the committee evidence it said it needed to decide whether to impeach.

The committee had rejected the idea of taking the question to the courts—as had Special Watergate Prosecutor Leon Jaworski who won his case. Instead, it decided to make Nixon's rejection of its subpoenas one of the articles against him.

If the committee view on this charge prevails and Nixon should be turned from office, or even sent to trial in the Senate, it would set a precedent that could last for years.

If, on the other hand, the article is defeated it would mean executive privilege has won in the impeachment arena what it lost in the courts.

It then would become accepted constitutional insulation between a President and his congressional critics at least until some future Supreme Court rules otherwise. No impeachment inquiry in the near future would be likely to overturn a negative precedent set now, if history is any guide.

The Cambodian bombing involved similar questions of constitutional interpretation, which both Congress and the Supreme Court failed to address directly throughout the Indochina war: Questions of a president's power to wage war without formal congressional approval.

But the issues here were clouded. There was evidence that at least some members of Congress were told of the secret bombing, and this raised questions as to their behavior in going along with a secret deal. There also was mention of the new War Powers Resolution that restricts presidential war making.

However, by failing to take formal issue with Nixon over his bombing of an ostensibly neutral country, the House Judiciary Committee may have set a backhanded precedent that could expand the presidency just as the subpoena article may have begun to restrict it.

This will be the first time governors and local leaders have had an opportunity to present a united front at the start of the budget-writing process, Evans said.

"We will have some input from the start instead of merely being in a position of reacting to something that is handed to us," he said.

This will be particularly important next year because of President Nixon's determination to check inflation by restricting federal spending, Evans said.

"It's going to be a tough budget," he said, adding the joint decisions reached are bound to affect federal domestic policy.

Turks won't leave old fort despite end to fighting

FAMAGUSTA, Cyprus (AP) — The firing has stopped around the 12th century Famagusta Fort, but the 11,000 Turkish Cypriots holed up in the walled city-within-a-city refuse to come out.

"Before we walk out of these walls, we want to see that we will not be exterminated," said Hassan Debesh, security chief for a refugee camp of 1,000 Turks in a school in the old city.

Other Turks in the old fort, the scene of many a siege since it was erected by the Lusignais in the 12th century, say they are less concerned about being attacked by the Greek Cypriots manning machine-gun nests on the tall buildings in modern Famagusta than they are about supplies.

"We have four major problems—shortages of medicines for our wounded, shortages of green vegetables because our fields are all outside the walls, garbage problems because we have nowhere to put it, and economic worries because all our animals are outside and are either dying or are being stolen," one senior official said.

The United Nations Command in Nicosia said U.N. convoys took supplies to Famagusta, but the convoys were suspended Tuesday at Greek insistence

Ohio Bell strike draws nearer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Bell repairmen and installers will have to notify company officials at least 48 hours before they walk off their jobs, a company spokeswoman said Tuesday.

Leaders of Communication Workers of America Local 4320 announced earlier in the day that union members had voted overwhelmingly to strike if contract negotiations failed.

The union has been working without a contract since July 17. Negotiations with the Bell System nationwide are being conducted in Washington.

Stock list turns mixed

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices were mixed in early trading today, buoyed a bit by a carry-over of some technical strength that developed late Tuesday.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was about unchanged and advancing and declining stocks were even on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers are cautious about trading today, with some foreseeing a technical rise from slow erosion of late, with others contending that the market is bound to sink under the weight of the gloomy economic climate.

Tuesday brokers noted a further rise in commodity prices resulting from drought conditions in the Midwest, and government predictions that inflation would not slow during the second half as sharply as they had been anticipated.

Active stocks in early trading on the Big Board were Avon Products, steady at 30, Madison Fund, up 1/4 at 7 3/4, and Bethlehem Steel, up 1/4 at 30 1/4.

Bethlehem announced second quarter net income of $1.60 a share, versus $1.32 a share in the like period of last year. The steel maker also upped its quarterly dividend to 50 cents a common share.

On Tuesday the Dow Jones average closed off 5.32 at 765.57. The index has now lost over 40 points in the last four trading sessions.

Ohio gains play grant

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John J. Gilligan announced Tuesday that Ohio is the first state to take advantage of a federal grant providing summer recreational opportunities for rural youths.

The Ohio Department of Natural Resources will administer the $100,291 grant allowing 7,000 youths from 63 counties to visit state parks, historical sites, the Ohio State Fair and college campuses.

Gilligan announced the Recreation Support Program at the Midwest Governors Conference in Minneapolis, Miss.

Reform prescription

The Senate Watergate committee's extended hearings last summer had the effect of fixing it in the public mind as chiefly an investigative body. In fact the committee's key function was, having made such inquiry as it deemed advisable, to recommend legislative reform. To this end it has now proposed legislation designed to make broad changes in the executive branch of the government.

In all the committee offers 35 proposals, scattered through a voluminous report. These include suggestions, in the committee's words, to create "new institutions necessary to safeguard the electoral process, to provide the requisite checks against the abuse of executive power and to insure the

THESE DAYS . . . by John Chamberlain

Will Brezhnev wait?

Military establishments are paid to keep track of a presumed enemy's capabilities. Thus the Pentagon is rightly worried about the Soviet Union's emerging supremacy in the waters of the eastern Mediterranean. Diplomats, on the other hand, are paid to make correct estimates of enemy intentions and to deal with them as best they can, making due allowances for sudden military exigencies.

As a matter of elementary precaution any nation should give first priority to reading the dope sheets on comparative capabilities. But, having done that, it is also good to try to piece out an enemy nation's intentions.

Trying to get inside Brezhnev's mind as he sits in the Kremlin while his fleet is building up and his nuclear technicians are learning how to put a multiple of charges in an atomic warhead, what do you think the Soviets will be doing this year and next? They will be preparing for big war, of course. But will they quickly choose to fight it?

THE MOST reasonable supposition is that the health of Mao Tse-tung and Chou En-lai in Red China and the waning years of Tito in Yugoslavia must be figuring prominently in Brezhnev's thinking. My astute colleague Joseph Alsop is always reminding us that the Red Chinese atomic potential keeps growing, and that a preventive strike by the Soviets must be a constant temptation. But if Mao and Chou are about to fade from the scene, maybe it would be cheaper and safer for Brezhnev to play for disrupting China from within. Wars are chancy things, and the Soviets have not yet had time to build a second railroad link from the Lake Baikal region in Siberia to the Pacific coast that would not be close to the vulnerable Manchurian border. Looking at Soviet capabilities as the Kremlin masses troops in inner Asia, it is surely conceivable that a swift stroke by the Russians might pulverize the Red Chinese Atomic installations and detach Sinkang from the Peking government.

prompt and just enforcement of laws that already exist."

Within that general framework, the report suggests a great variety of corrective measures. The committee wants Congress to establish an independent, non-partisan elections commission to enforce contributions and spending laws; it would include the attorney general and all other Justice Department officials under the Hatch Act's provisions forbidding political activity by federal workers; it would place strict limits on campaign contributions.

The committee also would ban White House investigations which circumvent existing intelligence agencies, and wants those agencies more closely supervised by Congress. It urges a "thorough reevaluation" of federal wiretapping practices.

Perhaps most importantly, the Watergate committee proposes establishing a permanent office of public attorney "which would have jurisdiction to prosecute criminal cases in which there is a real or apparent conflict of interest within the executive branch." In support of that idea it notes, among other things, that the existence of such an office might have "served as a deterrent against some of the wrongful acts that comprise the Watergate scandal."

The committee has done its work well. It has laid out an array of facts on widespread wrongdoing, and proposed far-reaching legislative reform. Now it is up to Congress to take appropriate action.

from breaking up into separate Serb, Croat and Slovene entities. Such a coup could be justified by the so-called Brezhnev Doctrine. Its ostensible purpose would be to keep Yugoslavia unifiedly "socialist." But it would have the geopolitical by-product of giving Russia some Adriatic harbors. Maoist Albania would not long survive the pinch, Greece would be menaced on its Macedonian flank, and, with the Soviet fleet sailing up and down the east coast of what Mussolini called "our narrow but adorable peninsula," the Italian Communists would begin to hedge on their "nationalist" thinking.

Mao may fool Brezhnev and stay alive for a while. Tito may fool him for a bit longer, too. Chou En-lai, with soy beans and Vitamin E, may stay off that second heart attack. But Brezhnev is the younger and healthier man. It would be surprising if he weren't prepared to let the ticking of the clock help him get his way without letting loose the dogs of a major war.

You take yourself seriously — sometimes so seriously that you become TOO self-assured, even arrogant in your attitude toward "lesser lights." Try to tone down such feelings since they could lead to self-defeat. Highly versatile, there are many fields in which you could achieve outstanding success — most notably, however, in the legal profession, which could lead you into politics or statesmanship, or in literature, where your sense of the dramatic would best evidence itself in novels or plays. Northwest Ohio needs physicians

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — In two years, northwestern Ohio counties will need to double their present number of physicians, a survey by the Medical College of Ohio shows.

The survey, funded by a $25,000 grant from the Ohio Department of Public Health, was conducted in 19 counties.

The region included Allen, Auglaize, Defiance, Erie, Fulton, Hancock, Hardin, Henry, Lucas, Mercer, Ottawa, Paulding, Putnam, Sandusky, Seneca, Van Wert, Williams and Wood counties.

About 1,170 physicians now serve the area, or one doctor for every 1,150 persons. The college said it used a recommended ratio of one doctor for 585 persons to conclude that 2,421 physicians will be needed in the region in two years.

In addition, 240 dentists are needed in addition to the 536 dentists now practicing in the area, the survey disclosed. This would maintain a 1-1,800 dentist-to-patient ratio.

The federal government estimates the population of the 19 counties will number 1.4 million in two years.

Ohio Perspective

Scope of rural crime is probed

By ROBERT E. MILLER
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — It's not as safe as it once was down on the farm. Crime is increasing.

The Ohio Farm Bureau Federation is trying to find out what the problem is and how to solve it.

Ohio's rural citizens "just like in the cities are victims of theft, burglary, murder, larceny, you name it," said Lowell Ridenour, coordinator of the project to discover the scope of rural crime.

He also thinks there might not be enough law enforcement to go around for citizens who live outside cities, and he hopes to get answers about that.

The bureau is cooperating with researchers at Ohio State University in the program which may be the first of its kind in the nation.

"I don't believe there has been a complete study anywhere in the United States about this, although many millions have been spent to find out about crime in the cities," Ridenour said.

Leonard E. Schnell, president of the 60,000-member federation, said rural crime has been "generally overlooked, but it definitely is on the increase."

Biggest problem is theft of farm equipment, livestock and other possessions, he said.

"We have a problem," said Don E. Fisher, executive director of the Buckeye State Sheriffs Association.

"We've had thefts of tractors, for example. They're not registered and if the farmer doesn't have motor numbers and the like there's not much chance of recovering the tractor.

"When meat was so highpriced, of course, we had a lot of rustling, too."

Ridenour said, "I was surprised, almost amazed, at the reports of vandalism our members have reported since we started our project in April.

"We've been told about people playing hide-and-seek in cornfields on motorcycles, tearing down gates, all kinds of crazy things. Our members are quite concerned about it."

The Farm Bureau has a 10-member advisory council looking into the problem. It hopes to recommend solutions. The council includes sheriffs, police chiefs, judges prosecutors, farmers and rural businessmen.

Ridenour said the council will meet in Columbus Aug. 13 to receive first data from Ohio State researchers, who have been scanning sheriffs' records and interviewing rural residents by mail and personally.

Proposed solutions are scheduled to be tested in Medina, Ashland, Wayne, Perry, Hocking, Athens, Madison, Clark and Fayette counties.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Flat chest could win by a nose

DEAR ABBY: I just read a letter from that foolish girl who was miserable because she had a big nose and a small bosom.

Where has she been? Big noses and flat chest are IN! Look at Barbra Streisand. She's got a real beak on her, but after a while it sorta grows on you.

And how about Princess Ann? She doesn't have a little button nose either, but you don't see her getting it bobbed.

As for the small bosoms, just look at all the fashion models. Not one of them wears a bra, because they have nothing to put it in.

So tell all the girls who are unhappy with their big noses and small bosoms to cheer up. They're in style!

NO COMPLAINTS

DEAR NO: All right, girls, no more crying in your 32 A cups. You could win by a nose.

DEAR ABBY: Is it possible for a person to serve a prison term for another person who has been tried and sentenced?

I realize this is a strange question, but I really must know. If this is possible, can more than one person serve the time in place of another? In other words, may twelve people serve one month each to cover a year's sentence of another? If this can be done, how would one go about volunteering?

KANSAS QUESTION

DEAR QUESTION: In the U.S.A., each person must serve his own sentence.

DEAR ABBY: How can a wife tactfully refuse invitations from a wonderful person who has a terrible bore for a husband? I met this woman through our children. School events and community projects brought us together. She's a fine woman with a charming, outgoing personality and I enjoy her company.

She invited my husband and me to her home for dinner, and afterwards my husband said: "Please don't ever subject me to another evening with those people. He is the worst bore I've ever met!" Naturally I've never invited them back.

Abby, now I feel so guilty when I see this woman. I owe her a dinner invitation, but I can't reciprocate, knowing how my husband feels.

EMBARRASSED

DEAR EMBARRASSED: Include this couple with other couples to reciprocate their hospitality After that, see the lady during the daytime, and spare your husband.

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for showing some understanding for girls who get pregnant out of wedlock.

I am the granddaughter of Charles Lindquist, who was a mortician in Ogden, Utah.

I will never forget a young couple who were in a family way and unwed. They had no one to turn to, so they took their lives. Later their parents had a change of heart, but it was too late.

I saw the bodies of those two beautiful young kids at my grandfather's funeral parlor, and I thought: "How sad. All they wanted was someone to stand by and help them and the baby that couldn't be born."

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Wednesday, July 31st, the 212th day of 1974. There are 153 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1777, the Marquis de Lafayette offered his services to the rebelling American colonies and was commissioned a major general in the Continental Army.

On this date:

In 1498, Christopher Columbus discovered the island of Trinidad.

In 1790, the U.S. government issued its first patent—to Samuel Hopkins of Vermont for a process in making potash.

In 1877, Thomas Edison took out an early patent leading to his development of the phonograph.

In 1917, the World War I battle of Flanders began.

In 1945, a French leader during Germany's World War Two occupation of France, Pierre Laval, surrendered to Allied authorities in Austria.

In 1948, as 900 airplanes flew overhead, President Harry Truman dedicated New York's new international airport at Idlewild Field.

Ten years ago: The U.S. Ranger Seven spacecraft transmitted to earth the first closeup pictures of the moon, and scientists hailed the achievement as the greatest advance in lunar astronomy since Galileo.

Five years ago: President Nixon was in India on an Asian tour.

One year ago: A jetliner crashed in a heavy fog at Boston's Logan Airport, killing 88 of the 89 persons aboard.

Today's birthdays: Former big league baseball manager Hank Bauer is 52. Public opinion analyst Elmo Roper is 74.

Thought for today: There's one consolation in inflation: The money you haven't got is not worth as much as it used to be—anonymous.

Rare tiger cubs said doing well

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— Four rare Bengal tiger cubs have cut their teeth and doubled their weight in the five weeks since their birth June 20 at the Cincinnati Zoo.

Three of the cubs are white and the fourth is a normal tawny. All have genes to reproduce the rare white breed, a zoo spokesman said.

The cubs have all their teeth but their four back molars, the zoo reported. Tigers eventually have 28 teeth.

Only 33 white tigers are known to exist in the world.

Cadet opens court fight against Army regulation

LEXINGTON, Mass. (AP) — Donald Boyd does not look like a rebel. And until he challenged West Point's rule against cadet marriages, he says he didn't feel like one, either.

"But I do now, because I'm fighting for something I believe in," Boyd said Monday.

The army career of Boyd, 23, fell apart on May 9, when the U.S. Military Academy received an anonymous letter that began, "It is known that cadet Donald Boyd, class of 1974, is married"

His tactical officer told him he either would have to quit the academy or be thrown out. Boyd chose to fight.

He already has been denied a temporary restraining order, and he plans to go into U.S. District Court in New York on Aug. 20 to seek an injunction.

The academy prohibits cadet marriages, but it is not denying Boyd a degree and a commission because he got married. The technical charge against Boyd is violating the academy's honor code by lying about his marital status. The alleged lying occurred when he listed the former Joanne K. "Jody" Moon on an insurance form as a friend instead of his wife.

But for the Boyds, who had known each other since prep school three years earlier, getting married was a matter of honor, too.

"We wanted to," said Jody, 22, a slim, reddish blonde.

"We had been planning on it. But it was kind of pushed by the fact that I got pregnant. We might have waited otherwise."

On Dec. 23, 1972, the couple got married in a small ceremony at Jody's parents' home in Silver Spring, Md.

"I knew other kids whose girl friends got abortions," Boyd said. "I don't believe in abortion. There was only one decision—when to get married."

He said the thought of letting Jody have the baby and wait until after graduation to get married did not seem right either.

"I could not accept having my child being illegitimate," Boyd said.

Now the couple and their 11-month-old daughter, Christin, live in Boyd's parents' Victorian house, and they wait for an outcome.

Boyd's lawyer, Steven Hyman of New York, said that in his next court appearance, he would try "to stop them from using the code as a ruse for ousting Don from the academy and to have the marriage rule declared unconstitutional." Hyman succeeded in getting a similar marriage ban at the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy declared unconstitutional.

Boyd said the honor charge was a way to keep that from happening at West Point — "They're not willing to face up to the issue, because they knew they would lose."

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Although millions of TV viewers have seen the House Judiciary Committee's impeachment debates, a major star of 1973's televised Senate Watergate hearings admits he's not often among them.

The reason, says Sen. Howard H. Baker, R-Tenn., is that he's been busy traveling in his state, talking with constituents and generally sampling public opinion for the past week.

"I've watched very little of the debate," said the vice chairman of the Senate Watergate committee. "I saw some of the first day's considerations, but I haven't seen much since that time."

Still, he added, his viewing has left him with a pretty fair impression of the House committee: "I think the members obviously are anguishing a good bit over the thing. They give the impression of being genuine and sincere. They're well-grounded in the facts."

Sen. Sam Ervin Jr., D-N.C., chairman of the Senate Watergate committee, declined to discuss any impressions TV coverage of Judiciary debate might have given him.

Baker, interviewed by phone from his office in Huntsville, Tenn., 50 miles northwest of Knoxville, was asked how he felt live national TV coverage affected the proceedings of either committee.

Of his own committee, he said, "it probably had the effect of inducing people to ask questions they otherwise might not have asked, even repetitious questions."

He said he couldn't comment on the House committee because he's unfamiliar with its usual procedures and because its members haven't had to contend with the problem of live TV coverage before.

"So who knows what effect television has?" he asked. "But my guess is the effect of TV, in terms of the grand-standing potential, is a lot less than the good it does in terms of the public's right to know."

Is there anything about TV coverage of the Watergate hearings he now wishes had been done differently?

The only change he'd like, he said, would be adoption of the Judiciary Committee's policy barring commercial breaks during any part of actual debate. No such bar existed during the Watergate hearings.

Baker said he favored live TV coverage of a Senate impeachment trial of President Nixon, should that result from House action.

"I think it would be a great travesty if it were not done," he said, adding that he thinks the Senate almost certainly will permit live TV coverage of the possible trial.

Does he think such nationally televised coverage would affect the outcome of the trial?

"No, I don't," Baker said without hesitation. "I think it's far too important and I think the members of the Senate feel the importance of the event too much to suggest that television coverage would have any affect. I don't think it will."

More rain needed to help crops

WASHINGTON (AP) — Scattered showers and thunderstorms last week helped improve prospects for corn, soybeans and other spring-planted crops but general rains still are needed over much of the nation to pull 1974 crops out of a dryweather tailspin, says the Agriculture Department.

Officials said Tuesday in a weather review that corn growth continued to suffer last week in much of the Midwest, particularly in the western Corn Belt.

"Corn in western Iowa as well as dryland corn in Nebraska and Kansas has been hurt considerably by the prolonged dry spell in those areas," the report said. "Near normal temperatures along with showers and thunderstorms aided crop growth in parts of Illinois, Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin."

But the report cautioned that "more rain is needed" to rebuild depleted soil moisture and pull the corn crop out of danger. Topsoil moisture generally, the report said, is short from Nebraska to Ohio.

Development of the corn crop generally continues to lag behind last year, due to a large degree to heavy rains which delayed plantings last spring.

Although soybean development also lags and is suffering from dry weather in the western Corn Belt, the crop by last weekend appeared generally to be in fair to good condition, the report said.

"In Illinois, the crop is 45 per cent blooming, compared to 59 per cent in 1973 and 72 per cent normally," the report said. "Only 10 per cent of the Illinois acreage has pods set, versus 20 per cent in 1973 and the average of 42 per cent."

Dry weather also continues to deplete pastures in much of the plains and Midwest, except in parts of Illinois, North Dakota and Wisconsin, the report said.

Seek escapees in Lorain area

LORAIN, Ohio (AP) — Two escapees from the Grafton Honor Farm were being sought by authorities here Tuesday.

Robert Baker of the state Department of Correction and Rehabilitation said: "in the confusion of getting inmates out of the fields during the rain storm, Kenneth Farmer, 19, of Cleveland and Jewell Frazier, 20, of Toledo, successfully slipped past security guards."

Another prisoner, Donald Free, 19, of Cleveland, was apprehended about one-half mile from the farm, Baker said.

Farmer was serving a six-month-to-five-year term for malicious entry and Frazier was serving one to seven years for grand larceny and burglary.

Mrs. Hoppes entertains at layette shower

Mrs. Wilbur Hoppes entertained with a layette shower for her grand niece Kari Rae Elliott and her mother, Mrs. Eugene Elliott.

The gift table was centered with an arrangement of pink, blue yellow and lavender daisies with baby's breath, the point of accent being a cherub baby bank. The arrangement was given to the mother of the guest of honor.

Three contests were conducted, and the winners were Mrs. Jerry Hoppes, Mrs. Jack Elliott and Mrs. Harold Perkins. The prizes were given to Kari Rae.

The array of gifts were opened by Mrs. Elliott, who thanked each one graciously. Guests were then invited to the tea table for the serving of cake, ice cream, mints and nuts, carrying out the same color theme. Mrs. Harold Perkins presided at the punch bowl.

Invited were Mrs. William McFadden Sr., maternal grandmother, Mrs. Joe Elliott, paternal grandmother, Mrs. William McFadden Jr., Mrs. John McFadden, Mrs. L.C. Hoppes, Mrs. Jerry Hoppes, Mrs. John Marcum, Mrs. Frank Zurface, Mrs. James Houseman, Mrs. Fred Hoppes, Mrs. Donald Zurface, Mrs. Herbert Hoppes, Mrs. Robert Rife and Anita, Mrs. Harold Perkins, Mrs. Donald Garrison.

Also Mrs. Roger Rapp, Mrs. Jack Elliott, Mrs. Foster Kelly, Mrs. Lester Stephenson, Mrs. Robert Lanman, Mrs. Stanley Dray and Mrs. Lowell Marvin.

Makeup make-over

By JOANO O'SULLIVAN "THE OLDER a woman gets," says Evelyn Marshall, "the more makeup she needs and the less obvious it should be."

Miss Marshall, who heads her own privately owned cosmetic company, is a magician when it comes to makeup. With a stroke of her brush — and she uses brushes much as an artist does — she can erase years and minimize problem features. Some of her cosmetic ideas are literally master strokes because several of the products she has developed were inspired by a Renoir painting.

The Art of Makeup "I was in the Prado in Madrid," recalled Miss Marshall, "when my eye was struck by a Renoir painting — I think it's called, 'The Music Instructor.' The thing I noticed was the way Renoir contoured the eyelids with a touch of gray-brown. He made the white of the eye seem whiter with a stroke of blue beneath the eye. He had a coloring trick, too, on cheeks that made the cheekbones look higher."

Miss Marshall, inspired by the painting and its cosmetic possibilities, dashed out for a sketchbook and a supply of paints and returned to try and duplicate Renoir's colors.

Give The Lady a Chair She stood for hours in front of the painting, color scheming. An uneasy Museum director, wondering what the crazy American was up to, questioned her. Intrigued by her idea of translating Renoir's strokes into makeup, he provided a table and chair so she could work comfortably. She came away with Renoir shades for three new makeup products — gray-brown contour shadow for the eyelids, blue soft crayon pencil to use on the lower rim of the eye, and shading rouge in a dusty brown-rose shade for the cheeks.

Evelyn Marshall believes every woman can be more attractive is she learns to use makeup to camouflage problem features. Here are her tips for makeup make-over:

Large Nose: In the palm of your hand, mix brown shadow powder with foundation. Apply it down the sides of the nose and, if your nose is too long, on the tip. If nostrils are wide, blend it over and under the edge of the nostrils.

Puffy Eyelids: Outline the top of the eyeball (you can feel where it is with your finger) with brown or gray shadow. This — and it's Evelyn Marshall's own beauty problem — will set back the puffiness.

Deep-set Eyes: If you can't see the eyelid, your eyes are deep-set. Use a very pale blue or green shadow on the lid to bring out the eye.

Thick Lips: Don't try to draw a smaller outline because, says Evelyn Marshall, it will show. Don't use light lipstick because it will make lips appear bigger. Do use a very dull but deep-toned lipstick shade.

Small Lips: Outline lips to the fullness you want with a lip pencil, then fill in with a medium lipstick shade. Highlight the center top and bottom with a pale pearly lipstick that will provide a shiny finish.

Puffy Under-Eyes: Don't put light makeup in the puffy area. This will puff it up more. Do use off-white highlight makeup in the deepest part of the circle. Then, in the palm of your hand, mix the highlighter, a little foundation, and a touch of cream rouge to make a peachy shade. Apply this to the puffy area to make it recede.

Dark Under-Eye Circles: First apply off-white makeup over the dark area. Next — to keep your camouflage from looking gray — mix cream rouge, foundation and the off-white makeup to create a peachy shade. Apply over the white makeup.

Full Face: Heighten cheekbones by brushing shading rouge under the highest part of the cheekbone out toward the opening of the ear. Press a wet sponge over the shading to soften the powdery look.

Husbands entertained

Alpha Theta Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority held the annual summer husband's party in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ron Hoxsie, 510 Waverly Ave., at a potluck supper. Following dinner, the group enjoyed a refreshing evening swim which included a fast game of water volleyball.

Those enjoying the afternoon and evening were Mr. and Mrs. David Pellior, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Rankin, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Barker, Mr. and Mrs. John Gall, Mr. and Mrs. John Morris, Mr. and Mrs. Don Gibbs, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hoppes, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Loudner, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Zechman, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Vrettos, Mr. and Mrs. John Skinner and Mr. and Mrs. Hoxsie. The social committee for the event was composed of Mr. and Mrs. Barker, Mr. and Mrs. Loudner, Mr. and Mrs. Gibbs and Mr. and Mrs. Hoxsie.

Cookout held by friends

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Southward Jr. and sons, Mike and Garry, were hosts at a cookout at their home recently. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Don Anders and children, Tracy and Robin, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Mongold and children, Lawrence, Danny, Linda and Albert Jr., and grandmother, Mrs. Ida Mongold, all of Greenfield; Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Southward Sr. and son, Bob, Mr. and Mrs. Don Manns, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Manns, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Manns, all of Washington C.H.; Also Mrs. Lucille Phillips of Dayton; Mrs. Catherine Chaney of Circleville; and Ralph Mongold, who resides in Alexandria, Va., was a surprise guest.

Yellow Teeth: Light lipstick will emphasize the yellowness, so use a deep lipstick shade.

You may have to practice to perfect the techniques of camouflage makeup, says Evelyn Marshall, but a few trial sessions before the mirror will do it. The result, a prettier you, is well worth the effort.

South Seas delight made with tuna

SALAD PLATTER OF TUNA — A refreshing medley that's easy to fix and uncommonly delicious with tuna and fruit with its creamy mustard sauce.

An ambrosial salad of fresh fruits and succulent tuna is a dish that will whisk you to a Tahitian island — any time of the day. It's a delectable start to a special meal. . . an easy-to-fix snack with drinks. . . a wholesome lunch for those on-the-run.

Flexibility isn't the only reason you'll want this unusual dish in your repertoire. If you entertain, tuna's low cost makes this a "price-less" treat because, in this inflationary age, canned tuna in vegetable oil is still one of the most economical protein foods on the market. No need to skimp on nutrition when skimping on meat. Tuna is comparable to lean beef, containing all 22 amino acids. What's more, it's lower in cholesterol as well as calories — an invaluable asset in today's health-conscious and diet-oriented society.

Why relegate tuna only to vegetable salad combinations? Tuna and fruit is deliciously different — so easy and quick to prepare — it welcomes the impromptu occasion. Absolutely no cooking involved. Just separate the tuna into chunks and arrange it on a platter with your favorite fruits — dewy cantaloupe, plump grapes, tart-sweet apple sections, tangy pineapple slices — use your imagination. The light and luscious crispness of fresh fruit provides a tempting contrast to the meaty yet delicate texture of tuna — and it's perfect for dieters. You'll love the creamy mustard dressing — it lends an exotic touch to the dish.

This fruited tuna platter will be a tribute to your culinary artistry. And such little fuss for such a scrumptious delight!

The longest hunger strike recorded was one of 94 days by nine inmates of Cork Prison, Ireland, from Aug 11 to Nov. 12, 1920.

Artichokes can be hearty

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
One of the most interesting treatments you can give that most elegant of all vegetables, the artichoke, is to stuff it. This way artichokes make bounteous servings for a company lunch, supper or dinner where they may be offered as a first course or instead of a salad. The following recipe an exceptionally flavorful one, was inspired by Italian cuisine.

SAVORY STUFFED ARTICHOKES
4 medium artichokes, cooked (see below)
1-3rd cup olive oil
1 cup finely chopped onion
1 cup finely chopped parsley
1 cup thinly sliced celery
1 large clove garlic, crushed
3 cups coarse fresh bread crumbs
1/2 cup freshly grated Parmesan cheese
1 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon dried oregano
2 tablespoons coarsely grated Romano cheese, if desired

Cook artichokes and prepare for stuffing as directed below. In a 10-inch skillet heat the oil; add onion, parsley, celery and garlic; cook over moderate heat, stirring often, until celery is almost tender — 5 to 10 minutes. Remove from heat. Stir in bread crumbs, Parmesan, salt, pepper and the oregano. Gently spread leaves of cooked artichokes and spoon crumb mixture into centers. (Should there be any stuffing left over, pack it among outside leaves.) If used, sprinkle stuffing with Romano. Using extra olive oil, drizzle 1 teaspoon of it over outer leaves of each artichoke. Place artichokes in an 8-inch square glass baking dish or similar utensil; cover tightly with foil. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven for 45 minutes. Serve at once. Makes 4 servings.

COOKED ARTICHOKES
With a sharp heavy knife, cut off — straight across — about 1 inch from tops of artichokes. Pull off the few small bottom leaves. Cut off stems leaving a flat base on each. With a kitchen scissors, cut off tips of leaves. Wash in cold water. Stand upright in a large saucepot — preferably one into which they just fit. Add enough boiling water to come 2 to 3 inches high. Add 1 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon olive oil, 1 garlic clove (unpeeled and halved) and 1/4 teaspoon dried thyme. Cover and boil gently until base of artichokes are barely tender when pierced with a fork — about 35 minutes. (If water gets very low during cooking, add a little more.) Remove artichokes and turn upside down to drain. Turn right side up. Gently pull out small soft inner leaves attached to chokes (thistle portion) and discard; with a sturdy teaspoon scoop out chokes and discard.

Eggs quickly lose their mild flavor if they are left at room temperature for even a short time. As soon as they are brought from the food market they should be refrigerated.

Legalized prostitution urged by panel

CHICAGO (AP) — Laws against prostitution are blatantly discriminatory against women, invade individual privacy and should be dropped from state books, a committee of the American Bar Association recommends.

The recommendation is in a report that calls for the adoption of a resolution which urges states to "repeal all laws which classify as criminal prostitution or solicitation by or on behalf of a prostitute."

The resolution is to be considered by the ABA's House of Delegates at its annual meeting in August. Approval of the resolution by the full House and the ABA's Board of Governors will provide guidance to state bars and other lobbying groups before state legislatures.

The committee says there is no reason for a state to outlaw "commercial sex."

"Whether a person chooses to engage in sexual intercourse for pure recreation, or in exchange for something of value, is a matter of individual choice, not for governmental interference," the report states. Decriminalization could lead to a reduction of crime associated with prostitution, it says.

Carole Bellows, a Chicago lawyer and vice chairman of the committee that approved the resolution, said the rise of the liberated woman, expanding notions about the right of privacy and a growing concern about so-called victimless crimes contributed to the committee's unanimous approval of the report at a meeting of its 20 members in May.

A primary reason for the committee's action was the discriminatory nature of statutes outlawing prostitution.

"In accordance with society's double standard of sexual morality, the woman who sells her body is punished criminally and stigmatized socially while her male customer, either by the explicit design of the statute or through a pattern of discriminatory enforcement, is left unscathed," the report states.

It says that in most states the law ignores the fact that male homosexuals can be prostitutes and "more importantly, that male customers, without whom prostitution would be impossible, are accomplices in this so-called criminal act."

It also calls for the decriminalization of solicitation to prostitution, saying such a law discriminates against poor and minority women who must operate in the streets in contrast to call girls who operate out of plush hotel suites.

The report was approved by the ABA's Section of Individual Rights and Responsibilities, headed by Albert E. Jenner Jr., Chicago lawyer now serving as counsel to the House Judiciary Committee considering articles of impeachment.

Jenner was chairman of the meeting in May and did not vote on the resolution, said Miss Bellows.

The ABA House of Delegates the past two years has acted favorably on recommendations from the same committee calling for the decriminalization of homosexual activity and the use of marijuana.

Seek to save old schoolhouse

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio (AP)— The South Central Ohio Preservation Society is attempting to save a 73-year-old elementary school from demolition.

Franklin Conway, head of the society, said his group has contacted the Chillicothe Board of Education about trying to save the former Chillicothe high school.

Nicholas Alexander, superintendent of schools, said demolition of the building has been planned since voters approved a $4.9 million bond issue for construction and renovation of school buildings two years ago.

He said that though the building is structurally sound, there is little hope for a change in plans.

Middletown woman killed in accident

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Bertha Wiley, 24, of Middletown, was killed Tuesday when the car in which she was a passenger collided with another vehicle on North Verity Parkway, police said.

Four other persons were hospitalized.

Union pushing low interest mortgages

CHICAGO (AP) — The president of the Carpenters Union, whose members have been hard hit by the slump in housing construction, says federal mortgages at low interest rates should be provided to combat skyrocketing mortgage rates.

William Sidell told 2,500 delegates to the union's 1974 convention on Tuesday that the time has come "to remove the housing industry from the free enterprise banking system."

"In its place, I propose that the federal government broaden the Federal Housing Administration and provide funds directly to the citizen" at interest rates "in the 4 or 5 per cent category."

He described his proposal as a way out for his 850,000 members, who have an unemployment rate estimated at 12 per cent because of the housing slump.

Officials of the National Association of Home Builders reported 2 million housing starts in 1973, but current seasonally adjusted estimates call for a decrease of 597,500 units in 1974. June housing starts were 26 per cent below last year's 1,595,000.

Crash injures Leesburg woman

A Leesburg woman was injured in an accident Tuesday, Washington C.H. police reported and the Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported an area man charged with reckless operation following an accident in Jeffersonville Tuesday.

Margaret J. Wagner, 44, Leesburg, was injured in a two-car accident which occurred in the 400 block of E. Court Street, at 1:35 p.m. Tuesday.

She had been a passenger in a car driven by Annalee L. Davis, 22, Sabina, which collided with a car driven by Allan R. Binegar, 16 West Road, city police reported.

Ms. Wagner was taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital and treated for pain in her left arm and wrist and then released.

A car driven by Donald L. Garrison, 29, of 903 Gregg St., incurred moderate damage at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday, when it struck a utility pole in Jeffersonville, owned by the Dayton Power and Light Co.

The Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported Garrison had lost control on a curve, traveled 150 feet off the roadside and then struck the pole. Garrison was cited by sheriff's deputies for reckless operation.

Sidell, a member of President Nixon's Construction Industry Stabilization Committee which was responsible for wage controls in building trades unions, is an advocate of union restraint in wage negotiations.

But union officials blame much of the decrease in housing starts on high interest rates and land costs, rather than high wages. They say that in 1949 land costs and interest charges added up to 16 per cent of the cost of a house and today are nearly triple—47 per cent.

Carpenters' wages, at an average of $9.39 an hour and about $6.50 an hour when the shorter working season is taken into account, are not out of line, the union says.

Sidell said his proposal would provide more equitable mortgage payments to the home buyer, an accelerated housing industry and a possible tax reduction resulting from cheaper financing for federal building projects.

Robert A. Georgine, director of the AFL-CIO Building and Construction Trades Department, told a newsman the idea, similar to one advocated by AFL-CIO President George Meany, was "ripe for discussion."

The proposal was criticized, however, by a spokesman for the United States League of Savings Associations, who said it would add to inflation by increasing federal spending.

2 non-traffic cases aired in Muny Court

A visitor to the United States whose home is in Newport, South Wales, appeared before acting Judge Omar Schwartz in Municipal Court Tuesday night to face charges of petty theft and possession of marijuana.

Neil Llewellyn, 25, pleaded guilty to the two charges and was fined $500 for possession, which was reduced to $250 and pending one year of good behavior by Judge Schwartz and $25 on the petty theft charge.

Llewellyn was observed at Seaway, CCC-Highway-W, shoplifting a sweatshirt and was charged with petty theft by the Fayette County Sheriff's Department who searched him out of standard procedure and discovered a baggie of marijuana on Llewellyn's person. This prompted the possession charge.

Llewellyn had been operating one of the carnival rides at the Fayette County Fair last week, while traveling around the country.

Judge Schwartz also dealt with a case involving the sale of beer to a minor.

Scott A. Crissinger, 19, Lakewood Hills, pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $50.

Slate separate, simultaneous murder trials

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Two Cincinnati men, who could face the death penalty if convicted of the killing of a Cincinnati policeman, will stand separate, but simultaneous, trials Oct. 15 in Hamilton County Common Pleas Court.

The announcement was made following a pre-trial conference Tuesday.

Roland Reaves, 23, and Ricardo Woods, 24, were charged with aggravated murder in the July 17 shooting death of Patrolman Donald Cole.

Police said Cole was attempting to stop two burglary suspects near a dairy store in the Mount Auburn section when he was killed.

Deputies investigating Milledgeville burglary

A larceny, a personal injury and a bad check were reported by city police. The Fayette County Sheriff's Department is investigating a burglary report.

The home of Everett F. Smith, Milledgeville, was burglarized sometime between 6 p.m. Monday and 10 p.m. Tuesday, sheriff's deputies reported.

Taken were clothes valued at $50, three end tables valued at $15, spices valued at $8, shoes valued at $5, some toys and an air conditioner.

DP&L to sell common stock

DAYTON — The Dayton Power and Light Co., announced that it has filed a registration statement with the Securities and Exchange Commission relating to its proposed offering to the public of two million additional shares of common stock.

Net proceeds will be used to reduce short-term indebtedness incurred in connection with the company's construction program.

Ave., was placed on the loading dock for the new owner to pick up at 5 p.m. Monday.

Police reported when the owner showed up at 8 p.m., the refrigerator had already been picked up by someone else. They are investigating the larceny.

Katrina Wilson, 1, of 515 Fifth St., was cut on the inside of her mouth while chewing on a broken glass ashtray at 2 p.m. Tuesday.

The child was taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital and referred to a private physician's office.

Helrich's Market, 806 Delaware St., reported a bad check for $150 passed on July 11. City police are now seeking the fraudulent party responsible.

Lutheran split said not likely

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The crisis-ridden Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod can "expect another year of agitation... but I don't believe there will be a major split," its president said here Tuesday.

"The Missouri Synod is still a family and divorce is frowned upon," said Dr. J.A. O. Preus.

Preus was in Columbus to address a meeting of the annual convention of the International Lutheran-Laymen's League, an auxiliary of the Synod.

Synod officials have been involved in a doctrinal dispute with a more liberal group of pastors, seminary professors and students.

The controversy started in January when officials suspended Dr. John Tietjen as president of the church's largest seminary, Concordia in St. Louis. Officials charged him with failure to accept "inerrancy of Scripture in all its parts" and with misconduct in official duties.

Preus said no final decision has been made about Tietjen, who has been serving as president of a Concordia "Seminary in Exile" after most of the school's faculty and students left with him.

Preus said the decision has been delayed "because certain things have to happen in certain order, according to bylaws."

City tennis tourney set

The Washington C.H. Recreation Commission and the Community Education program will sponsor this year's city tennis tournament, it was announced today.

Hank Shaffer, director of the Community Education program, said this year's tournament will be conducted differently. He said each entrant will be evaluated by a group of players and placed into divisions with players of about the same ability. Shaffer said this will allow some of the beginning tennis players a better chance of winning.

He said after a player is placed into a division, he is not permitted to move down, but will have the opportunity of playing against better opposition.

Trophies will be awarded for the winners of men's singles, men's doubles, women's singles, women's doubles and mixed doubles in each division.

An entry fee of $2 for singles and $3 per team in doubles, must be received before Thursday, Aug. 8. Checks for entry fees should be made to the City of Washington and mailed to Hank Shaffer, P.O. Box 520, Washington C.H.

Pairings will be announced Aug. 12 and all players will be notified of their division before that date.

Pennington purchases bakery in Cincinnati

Pennington Bros., Inc., bakers of Pennington Bread, has purchased the production facilities and other assets of the Albers Supermarket Bakery in Cincinnati and has agreed to the cancellation of the lease on the former Pennington bakery location, according to Morgan B. Pennington, owner and board chairman of Pennington Bread, Inc.

Following a devastating fire in 1956 that completely destroyed the main Pennington bakery in Washington C.H., all production was moved to the Cincinnati plant, which ran at full capacity while the Washington C.H. bakery was being rebuilt and greatly enlarged.

When reconstruction was completed in 1958, all production was moved back to Washington C.H. and Pennington leased the Cincinnati building to Albers.

According to Pennington, "the reacquisition of the one-time Pennington plant and its production facilities was prompted by the dissolution of the Albers Supermarket operations in Ohio and by the growing consumer acceptance of Pennington Bread products." Prior to reacquiring the Cincinnati plant, Pennington took over the Richardson Baking Co., of

MORGAN B. PENNINGTON

Marietta, in 1970 and Dayton's Miami Maid plant in 1971.

Plans for utilization of the Cincinnati facility are not yet complete, Pennington stated.

Pennington said the reacquisition of the Cincinnati bakery will have no immediate bearing on the company's operations in Washington C.H.

Gasoline shortage thing of the past?

By The Associated Press

Gasoline shortage? Don't tell that to dealer Art Paul. He's out there pumping into the night.

"Sell, sell, sell—that's what the companies are telling us now," said Paul, taking a break Tuesday night at his Los Angeles station to comment in his capacity as president of the Gasoline Retailers Association of Southern California.

He is among some dealers around the country who report that even though television commercials are still plugging conservation of gasoline, the companies are filling service station storage tanks with gasoline allocations equal to or exceeding those of 1972.

"Every dealer in Southern California is getting as much or more than '72," Paul claimed. He said that to his knowledge, in Southern California, Mobil is supplying 105 per cent and Standard 109 per cent of 1972 deliveries.

Dealers who liked the idea of limiting hours to get home for dinner or even take a Sunday off for fishing are finding themselves back in the thick of competitive sales.

Reports from Southern California are echoed at least in Chicago and Miami, according to survey by The Associated Press. Some oil companies admit the accounts of higher supplies and selling pressure are accurate.

A Union Oil spokesman put it this way: "We have not forced the dealers to stay open longer. We have requested them to return to the operating hours they had prior to the problems of last winter and early this year. The reason is that more gasoline is available now and we want to be able to take care of the motoring public."

The American Petroleum Institute, an industry trade organization, said in Washington that gasoline stocks are slightly higher than a year ago, while demand is slightly lower.

Staffs take over impeachment role

WASHINGTON (AP) — Impeachment proceedings move now to staff offices and closed committee rooms for a new marshaling of forces for and against President Nixon.

The staff of the House Judiciary Committee, armed with three articles of impeachment recommended by the panel, has the first task.

It must prepare a report for the full House that will cite the evidence backing up charges voted by the committee after more than six months of investigation.

The raw material of the report lies in more than 7,000 pages of information and exhibits, and additional hundreds of pages of testimony accumulated by the impeachment inquiry.

Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., said Tuesday night as public hearings concluded that the staff report would be ready Tuesday.

Members who disagree with committee recommendations can include their dissenting views in the report.

Just when the report will be made public has not been stated. By the start of House debate would be the latest; a few moments after getting into the hands of a leak-minded member likely would be the earliest.

The House Rules Committee next week will set precise ground rules for an anticipated two weeks of House debate.

The House leadership is thinking in terms of 100 hours of debate, daily sessions from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., and a time span of Aug. 12 to 26.

The Senate, which would be the jury for a trial of Nixon if the House votes to impeach him on any of the three articles, already is starting its tentative planning.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger would preside at the trial, but the Senate would set the rules for matters ranging from admissibility of evidence to overruling of the presiding officer.

The Senate is not expected to set its procedures firmly until the House takes its final votes.

The full House and the Judiciary Committee gave permission for broadcast of the six days of Judiciary panel debate.

After early reticence, indications now are that the House will permit broadcast of its impeachment debate.

Final decisions, with precise media operating rules, have not been set by either the House or Senate.

Ohio Power seeks hike

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Power Co. today asked the state Public Utilities Commission to allow it to raise its rates between $2 and $8 per month for all of its customers.

This would represent about a 22 per cent rate increase for its 571,000 residential, commercial and industrial subscribers, the company said.

"Our rates today are among the lowest in Ohio and will remain so, even with approval of the rate increase," said F.N. Bien, company executive vice president.

Bien blamed inflation, new construction, rising costs, taxes and costs of environmental protection equipment as reasons for the request.

"We have been operating since last December with rates based on 1970 operations. Those rates were approved by the PUCO some 2½ years after they were requested," Bien said. "The increase we are requesting today is based on our cost of doing business in 1973."

Ohio Power serves central and southeastern Ohio, and is headquartered in Canton.

The Union Jack was Canada's official flag from 1763 to 1965.

Lottery winners must take cash

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Ohio State lottery winners will have to be satisfied with cash for awhile because a lottery commission spokesman said it will probably be winter before a wider variety of prizes can be given out.

The commission had considered offering a special drawing for door prizes for those buying tickets at the 1974 Ohio State Fair.

However, a provision in the proposed lottery rules filed with the secretary of the state prohibit the commission from giving out any gifts other than cash, the spokesman said.

James Skelly, lottery information officer, said he expects the commission to eventually ask the Ohio Legislature to authorize a wider variety of prizes.

"We have to look forward to the day when the game begins slowing down and we need to spice things up with prizes such as mobile homes, cruises or whatever tangible things people will get excited about," Skelly said.

Lottery Counsel Stephen Parisi confirmed that there is no authorization for the commission to distribute non-cash prizes.

He suggested that the commission could take a roundabout route of lining up prearranged merchandise that winners could "buy" with their cash.

The commission said nearly 10,000 prospective ticket vendors had submitted their applications by Monday's deadline.

Participating bankers are being briefed on lottery procedures at conferences in Akron, Columbus and Lima, the commission said.

John Kirkland, lottery director, said some 12 million game tickets should be in the hands of vendors and regional lottery coordinators by the time sales start.

The first drawings are set for Parma on Aug. 22 and at the State Fair on Aug. 29.

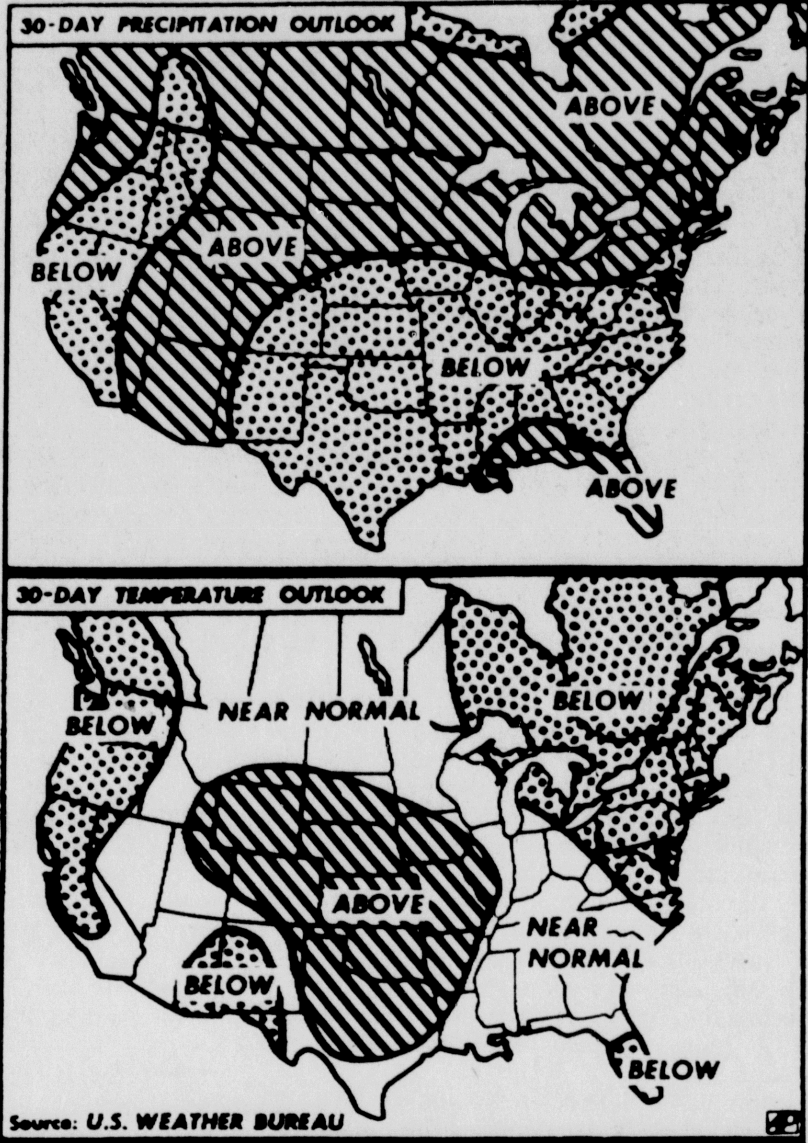

Gov. John J. Gilligan is to kick off the sales by buying the first 50-cent ticket.

Lottery commissioners have agreed to negotiate with state Agriculture Director Gene Abercrombie about allowing ticket sales at the State Fair. Abercrombie has announced he will block sales at the fair out of concern for gambling at such a youth-oriented event.

Taft broadcasting acquires 2 stations

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— Taft Broadcasting Co. has announced it has concluded an agreement with American Broadcasting Companies, Inc., to purchase two Pittsburgh, Pa. radio stations.

Taft said the purchase price for KQV-AM and WDVE-FM was $3.5 million.

30 DAY WEATHER MAP — This is how the precipitation and temperatures for the nation shape up for the next 30 days, according to the National Weather Service.

Clear skies over nation

By The Associated Press
Generally fair skies and mild temperatures across most of the nation today were marred by thundershowers along the coasts and continued hot weather in the desert Southwest.

Greatest rainfall splashed along the Atlantic and Gulf coasts in warm, humid air. Showers also were widely scattered through the Great Lakes, northern Plains and Great Basin.

Up to an inch of rain fell overnight at Loring Air Force Base in Maine; Rocky Mount, N.C.; Ellington Air Force Base in Texas and Yucca Flat, Nev.

Fog moved off the Pacific Ocean to shroud the coastal valleys of California early today. Cool air blanketed much of the midcontinent from the Plains to the Great Lakes and into the Ohio Valley. Temperatures before dawn ranged from 50 at Laramie, Wyo., to 96 at Needles, Calif.

Because of their diplomatic immunity, foreign diplomats in Britain have dodged paying car parking fines in excess of 250,000 pounds — around $1.3 million — according to Home office figures.

Loan firm officers sentenced

NEWPORT, Ky. (AP) — Circuit Judge John P. Lair, saying "the jury has spoken," Tuesday imposed heavy sentences and fines on two former officers of the bankrupt Harmony Loan Co.

The month-long trial in Campbell Circuit Court ended last week. The $1.5 million fraud case had been pursued by the Kentucky Securities Commission.

James J. Mathews of Cincinnati, former president of the company, was sentenced to 11 years and four months in jail and fined $102,000.

Former vice president and board chairman James Spampinato, also of Cincinnati, was sentenced to six years in prison and fined $54,000.

Both were released on appeal bonds matching their fines.

Eleven other persons are to stand trial in the case. The prosecution charged the officers used investor funds to pay interest to other investors to cover a $1.5 million deficit.

The firm was forced into bankruptcy in 1972 after the Kentucky Securities Commission banned further bond sales.

"TRUTH IN LENDING" IN A NUTSHELL . . .

Regulation "Z", or the Truth In Lending Act, is designed to make it clear to you, as a consumer, just what you are paying for credit, its cost also explained in percentage terms.

This involves any individual or organization that offers or arranges credit for which a finance charge is, or may be payable, or which is repayable in more than 4 installments.

You must be told (in writing and before credit is expended) the total of all costs you must pay, directly or indirectly, to obtain credit.

Regulation "Z" does NOT fix maximum, minimum, or any charges for credit, but DOES mandate that you be told, clearly, all such charges.

You may cancel a transaction, if in writing and within 3 business days.

These are just the basics. There is much more and for specific answers it is advised that you consult your Banker, or: Truth in Lending, Federal Trade Commission, Washington, D. C. 20580.

Lieutenant governor to speak at Kiwanis Club meet Monday

Ohio Lieutenant Governor John W. Brown will be the guest speaker at the regular weekly dinner meeting of the Washington C.H. Kiwanis Club Monday night.

The Kiwanis Club meeting will be held at 6:15 p.m. in the Lafayette Inn. Brown, a Republican, is seeking reelection to the lieutenant governor's post in the fall. He will be opposed by Democratic nominee Richard F. Celeste.

He has served as lieutenant governor in Ohio 16 of the past 22 years and is presently completing his fifth term.

His political achievements have included two terms as Medina's mayor. As the state's lieutenant governor he functioned as president of the Ohio Senate and in 1957 assumed the governorship when Ohio Gov. Frank Lausche was elected to the U.S. Senate. In 1959 he was elected to the Ohio House of Representatives to become the first former chief executive to serve in the Ohio General Assembly in 119 years.

ELECTED TO the Ohio Senate in 1961, he is the second person in Ohio to hold the distinction of serving in two executive capacities and in both houses of the Ohio General Assembly. In 1962 he was elected to the office he presently holds, and was re-elected lieutenant governor in November, 1970. In 1966-67, he was chairman of the National Conference of Lieutenant Governors. He has served as deputy commander-in-chief of Ohio military and Naval forces since 1969. In private life, Brown is president of the Investors Heritage Life Insurance Co., of Ohio.

Widely-known as a public speaker, Brown is especially noted for his wonderful sense of humor and his inspiring philosophy of life. He has many interests and hobbies. An ardent golfer, amateur photographer, fisherman and gun collector. He is a life member of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Amvets and a member of a number of fraternal and civic groups. He is a 32nd degree Mason and has been awarded many honorary titles.

The lieutenant governor's appearance as a guest speaker was arranged by Washington C.H. Municipal Court Judge Reed M. Winegardner.

$100 million deal made for jetliners

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A $100 million sale would be any salesman's dream.

It came true for Bob Baird of McDonnell Douglas Corp.

He sold four DC10 jetliners to Varig, the Brazilian airline. Two of the planes were delivered recently. One will be delivered later this year and another in 1975.

It took 5½ years for Baird to make the deal, so he found great satisfaction when the keys to two DC10s were turned over to Capt. Carlos Homrich, chief pilot and director of operations for Varig.

Baird, 45, directs the McDonnell Douglas sales program in Mexico and Central and South America.

Since production of DC10s began in January 1969, he has sold eight of the $20 million aircraft, including two to Aeromexico and two to Viasa, the Venezuelan airline. He also sells DC9s and used airplanes.

The DC9's basic price is $19 million.

but extras bring it up to $25 million.

"We don't have one-cent sales or special deals if you buy a bunch," Baird said.

"Every deal is different. No two airlines come up with the same DC10. The internal configuration — the seating arrangement, the galleys — the electronic gear, navigation equipment all are according to customer specification.

"Another 7 per cent to 20 per cent of the basic price is spent by airlines on stocking initial parts. Like buying a car, by the time you get done with the extras, the price is considerably higher than the basic price.

"Only, of course, when you buy a car you don't buy spare parts needed in the months and years ahead."

Did Baird make a whopping commission on the sale? No. He's on straight salary.

Ohio turnpike revenues down

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio turnpike revenues this month were down 3.4 per cent compared to last July, Ohio Turnpike Commission Chairman W. Shocknessy said Tuesday.

Shocknessy noted however, that the estimated $4.85 million collected for July, 1974, is still more than the amount collected during July, 1972.

He said $1.5 million in revenue bonds were bought by the turnpike trustees during July, bringing the total bond retirement to $195.9 million.

The commission said it expected to retire the remaining $130 million in bonds by 1980 or 1981.

Auto repair costs bring court suit

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Atty. Gen. William Brown says his court suit against four Cleveland auto dealers is the first phase of a statewide investigation into what he says are overcharges for auto repair work.

"Upwards of $10 billion a year is being spent on automobiles in the United States, and I can safely say that much of this money is being squandered," Brown said Tuesday.

Named in the suits were Spitzer Ford Inc., C. Miller Chevrolet, Deacon's Chrysler-Plymouth Inc. and Bob Kay Inc. American Motors.

The four said news of the suits came as a surprise and declined comment until they are notified officially.

The suits filed in Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court ask for a permanent injunction against the dealers plus $5,000 daily fines against those who continue the alleged practices.

In addition, the suit seeks to have any money gained by the dealers by the alleged practices returned to customers.

Cincy voters face school levy ballot

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Voters in the Cincinnati School District will be asked to approve a 3.9-mill operating levy at the November general election.

The school board tentatively plans to use the funds for a reading program, safety and discipline, athletic improvements and to restore secondary instructional hours cut three years ago as an economy measure.

Extension of federal program provides jobs in 17 counties

COLUMBUS — Ohio has received an eight-month extension of the Public Employment Program is now hiring 266 unemployed persons for state agencies in 19 counties and seven cities.

The majority of the persons will be employed for Ohio Youth Commission, Corrections and Rehabilitation, and Mental Health and Mental Retardation facilities, according to Joseph J.

2 brothers set reunion after decades

KINGS MILLS, Ohio (AP) — Two brothers separated more than 30 years ago as children will be reunited for the first time today at Kings Island.

Earl Carter, 32, of Middletown, and John Carter, 40, of Indianapolis, Ind., were separated when their mother died after Earl's birth. They still do not know where their two sisters, Edna and Kathryn, are.

Glenn Reynolds of Gratis, Ohio, helped reunite the two men after he heard Earl tell a waitress his family history.

Reynolds said Earl was too moved at the prospect of seeing his brother to talk with newsmen himself.

Reynolds said when he heard the story he offered to help Earl locate his brother.

Reynolds said he called a long distance operator, explained the story and said that Earl thought his missing brother lived in the Indianapolis area.

The operator, said Reynolds, found 23 John Carter's listed. The first one she called didn't answer. The second one did — and was the right house.

The operator did not charge for either call Reynolds said.

Reynolds said both brothers cried over the phone.

Reynolds said Earl was reared by an aunt and uncle and doesn't know where his father is. The other three children were raised in a Xenia orphanage, Reynolds said.

It was the nickels and dimes of children that paid for the 89-foot-high pedestal for the Statue of Liberty in 1886.

Sommer, director of the Ohio Department of Administrative Services.

Job allocations include 42 for Mental Health and Mental Retardation, 61 for Corrections, 45 for Ohio Youth Commission, 23 for the Bureau of Workmen's Compensation, 11 for Environmental Protection Agency, and 11 jobs for three other agencies. Seventy-two positions were allocated to the Department of Administrative Services, including 44 jobs for a satellite office of the State Data Center which opened July 15 in Portsmouth.

The Public Employment Program, funded by the federal Emergency Employment Act, has been in operation since November, 1971. Federal officials said the latest extension — to March, 1975 — will be the last. The federal government released $929,800 to the state for the latest extension.

PERSONS who are interested in one of the remaining 169 jobs (97 already have been filled) should contact the nearest office of the Bureau of Employment Services. Only persons who have been unemployed 30 days or more and live in one of the designated counties or cities are eligible for employment, though they may commute to work outside the county.

The pay for most of the jobs is from $3.10 to $4.53 an hour. The length of employment ranges from six to eight months and every attempt possible will be made to find permanent jobs for Public Employment Program employees during this time, Sommer said.

Corrections has 61 jobs at Lebanon Correctional Institute, Ohio Reformatory for Women at Marysville, Southern Ohio Correctional Facility at Lucasville and the Marion Correctional Institute and for adult parole officers from Pike, Pickaway, Athens, Allen counties and Cleveland.

Mental Health and Mental Retardation is employing 42 persons at Fallsview Mental Health Center, Longview State Hospital, Dayton State Hospital, Toledo State Hospital, Lima State Hospital and Woodside Receiving Hospital in Youngstown.

The Ohio Youth Commission has 45 positions at Scioto Village in Powell and the Fairfield School for Boys in Lancaster.

Workmen's Compensation is employing 23 persons in two counties and six cities. EPA has six public health engineer positions in its 11 jobs. Other agencies with jobs include agriculture, five; commerce, four, and welfare, two.

The temporary positions, including hospital attendants, youth leaders, custodial workers, parole officers, correction officers, public health engineers and nurses will be available in some, but not all of the following cities: Akron, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Columbus, Dayton, Toledo, and Youngstown, and Wood, Seneca, Allen, Marion, Delaware, Fairfield, Warren, Butler, Scioto, Athens, Portage, Pike, Ross, Pickaway, Fayette, Madison, Licking, Holmes and Hocking counties.

LUCASVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Operations at the state's maximum security prison were expected to be back to normal this morning as an intensive shakedown for weapons entered its final phase.

Joe Ashley, spokesman for the Ohio Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation, said the shakedown at the Southern Ohio Correctional Facility would end with inspection of about 280 isolation cells.

Ashley said inspections of the prison's school, gymnasium, library and two chapels were to be conducted overnight.

Searches of the other cellblocks, recreation areas, yards and hospital uncovered 35-40 weapons and potential weapons, Ashley said.

Of these, he said about 10 were "finished products." The rest were such things as pipes and electric cords.

The shakedown began Monday night in the wake of the stabbings of four inmates, one of them fatal.

All of the victims were attacked by stainless steel weapons, Ashley said, and all of the weapons were recovered after the incidents. Ashley said none of the weapons confiscated in the shakedown were stainless steel.

Most of the articles were found outside of cell areas, "hidden or just left to be discovered," Ashley said.

Prison Supt. Joseph Havener had allowed a 15-minute grace period at the start of the searches to allow inmates a chance to dispose of any blacklisted articles, Ashley said.

"The shakedown moved very swiftly, thoroughly and efficiently," Ashley said.

Special precautions were taken not to repeat actions of a year ago during the prison's last shakedown which resulted in hundreds of inmate complaints against guards, Ashley said.

He said inmates were allowed to stand outside their cells and watch as guards searched, making sure nothing was taken or damaged.

Radios, stereos and other electronic equipment was labeled with the inmate's name and cell number before being removed to another area for inspection, Ashley said.

He said most of the 1,100 inmates at the facility were very cooperative.

"Many of them had the stuff piled on the bed ready to be searched when we came in," he said.

Set hearing on dismissal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The State Board of Personnel Review said it will decide in one or two weeks whether to uphold the firing of George Skajac, a highway worker for the state Department of Transportation.

Skajac was fired because of his alleged participation in the U.S. Senate Campaign of John Glenn during the primary, transportation department officials said.

The board heard testimony from 29 witnesses Tuesday, some whom said they saw Skajac helping to remodel and paint Glenn's Youngstown headquarters.

Others claimed that Skajac accompanied Glenn during campaign appearances in Mahoning County, said Earl Allison, the board's executive secretary.

Allison said that Skajac testified he signed a letter in April resigning as Glenn's Mahoning County coordinator.

Skajac, in his own testimony and through the testimony of others, tried to show that other state workers have engaged in similar political activity and have not been fired, Allison said.

He said the board ruled most of this testimony out of order as irrelevant to the case.

Dodgers' lead increases to 5 1/2 games

May powers Houston over Reds

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—“We’ve got to get it straightened out,” said Cincinnati Reds Manager George “Sparky” Anderson Tuesday night after his team dropped its second game in a row.

The Houston Astros took the measure of starter Fred Norman 8-4 as the Reds continued to slip off the pace in the National League Western Division. Cincinnati has now dropped five and one-half games behind the Dodgers.

“We’re going on our most important road trip,” frowned Anderson.

The Reds have seven games to play on the West Coast, including three with the Dodgers, after closing the home series tonight with Houston.

Lee May, a former Reds player, batted in three runs on two hits including a basesloaded double in the third inning after being moved to the cleanup spot in the lineup by Houston Manager Preston Gomez.

“It don’t make no difference to me where I hit,” said May, who lives in Cincinnati. “The same pitcher is out there.”

“But I’m a different type hitter against Freddie. I give up power. If you go for the home run against him you’re dead. He can make you look like a fool.”

Norman, who was tagged for Cesar Cedeño’s 22nd home run and rookie Cliff Johnson’s sixth, said “I didn’t feel right out there. My screw ball wasn’t that good and I had to rely on the fast ball.”

Norman, 10-10, went to the showers in the fifth inning having given up seven hits to the Astros whom he beat three times this year.

John Bench hit a two-run homer in the first inning. Johnson’s homer came in the second, then May doubled to make it 3-2 in the third. May doubled in another run in the fifth and scored on Bob Watson’s single. Cedeño homered in the sixth and Don Wilson’s two-run single in the seventh ended the scoring for Houston.

Tony Perez hit his 19th homer to tie Bench for the Reds’ team record in the seventh.

Reggie Smith Jr., age six, likes to see home runs—especially when they’re hit by his daddy.

On the other hand, the Philadelphia Phillies have seen quite enough, thank you.

The senior Smith, St. Louis’s slugging outfielder, slammed two home runs and a triple Tuesday night, driving in all four Cardinals runs in a 4-3 victory over the first-place Phillies, which moved St. Louis to within one game in the National League East.

Reggie Jr. has been traveling with his father on the Cards’ current road trip. The tyke complained that his dad wasn’t hitting enough home runs; Smith hadn’t homered since July 1.

After the win, the Cards’ fourth straight and eighth in nine games, Smith said that during extra batting practice he discovered he was dropping his shoulder and corrected it.

Smith is batting .318. Elsewhere in the National League, the Montreal Expos edged the Chicago Cubs 4-3 in 10 innings; the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the New York Mets 6-0 before losing the second game of a twin bill 4-3; the San Francisco Giants erupted for three runs in the 12th inning and beat the Atlanta Braves 6-3; the Houston Astros defeated the Cincinnati Reds 8-4, and the Los Angeles Dodgers blanked the San Diego Padres 8-0.

Expos 4, Cubs 3

Mike Jorgensen’s two-run single in the 10th inning gave the Montreal Expos a 4-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

The Expos had loaded the bases in the 10th and Jorgensen greeted reliever Oscar Zamora with his game-winning hit.

Pirates 6-3, Mets 0-4

Pittsburgh’s Jim Rooker blanked the Mets on five hits in the opener, but New York’s Jerry Koosman came back to stop Pittsburgh on five hits in the second game.

Richie Hebner singled twice, knocked in one run and scored two for the Pirates in the opener. In the second game, Cleon Jones doubled home Jerry Grote with the winning run in the eighth.

Giants 6, Braves 3

Chris Speier’s bases-loaded double in the 12th inning provided the winning margin for the Giants, who tied the game in the ninth on a pinch-homer by Dave Kingman.

Detroit Manager Ralph Houk thinks rookie catcher Tim Blackwell's attempted pickoff would have been a heck of a play. But it wasn't and Boston Manager Darrell Johnson says he doesn't expect to see it ever again.

“I guess you might call it inexperience, but this should happen only once,” Johnson said after the Red Sox lost 7-5 to Detroit when two runs scored on Blackwell's wild throw with two out in the ninth.

In other American League games, the Cleveland Indians beat the Baltimore Orioles 8-6, the Minnesota Twins topped the Kansas City Royals 7-3, the Chicago White Sox edged the California Angels 3-2 in 10 innings, the Milwaukee Brewers swept the New York Yankees 3-2 in 10 innings and 4-0 and the Oakland A's trounced the Texas Rangers 11-3.

The Red Sox went into the ninth leading 5-3 when Gary Sutherland singled and Al Kaline homered. Then with two out and Jim Northrup, who had doubled, on third and pinch-hitter Ben Oglivie on first, Oglivie broke for second.

Blackwell, pressed into service a month ago when Carlton Fisk suffered a knee injury, faked a throw to second and then threw wildly past third, allowing both runners to score. It was Boston's fifth error.

Tiger center fielder Mickey Stanley suffered a broken bone in his right hand when he was hit by a pitch in the fourth inning.

Indians 7, Orioles 2

The Indians built a winning 7-2 margin with five runs, only two of them earned, in the seventh. In that inning, the Orioles committed three errors, two by first baseman Boog Powell, who also had a single bounce off his glove.

Twins 7, Royals 3

Kansas City shortstop Fred Patek also had a rough time in the field, committing three errors. Runs scored on two of them. Harmon Killebrew and Larry Hise homered for the Twins.

White Sox 3, Angels 2

Nolan Ryan of the Angels gave up only six hits, but one was a two-run homer by Bill Melton in the second inning and another was a bases-empty homer by catcher Ed Herrmann in the 10th.

Brewers 3, Yankees 2

With two on and two out in the 10th, George Scott raced home with the winning run as Mike Hegan beat out an infield single.

In the nightcap, rookie Kevin Kobel, 1-8 against the rest of the league, made it 3-0 against the Yankees, shutting them out on a four-hitter.

A's 11, Rangers 3

Reggie Jackson and Gene Tenace led the Oakland rout with two home runs each. Duke Sims homered for the Rangers.

Defensive backfield hampers Portland

By The Associated Press

Job security has been mighty tough to come by in the past weeks for Portland Storm defensive backs.

Coach Dick Coury is looking for a new combination and wants to avoid another embarrassment tonight such as the one suffered when the Storm first met Philadelphia in their World Football League opener.

Philadelphia's only victory came against Portland, a 33-8 romp that began a thus far winless season for the Storm.

In their first meeting, the Portland secondary allowed Philadelphia quarterback Jim “King” Corcoran to complete 21 of 38 passes for 227 yards and two touchdowns.

The first change came with the immediate cut of defensive back Clancy Williams, a nine-year National Football League veteran who had been one of Portland's “name” players. Ed Washington, a rookie from Long Beach State, also was placed on waivers.

Rookie safeties Charles Hinton and Ray Sherman have been replaced by Tom Oberg and Frank Andruski, a pair of Canadian Football League players. Only rookie Ed Bishop remains, and he'll be at strong safety—not cornerback.

In other WFL games tonight, Birmingham is at Detroit, Florida travels to Houston, and New York hosts Jacksonville. The nationally televised contest Thursday night features Southern California at Memphis.

The battle tonight between the Birmingham Americans and the Detroit Wheels should prove to be an offensively explosive contest. Birmingham, 3-0, takes the best WFL scoring attack—33.7 points a game—to Detroit for the contest with the Wheels, 0-3, who have the new league's worst scoring defense—29.3 points a game.

The Americans, however, have given

Bloodmobile collects 154 pints here

A total of 154 pints of blood were received by the Red Cross Bloodmobile in its visit to Washington C.H. Tuesday.

The 154-pint total was just six pints short of a 160-pint quota.

The Business and Professional Women's Club sponsored the Bloodmobile which was located at Grace United Methodist Church and 34 volunteers clocked a total of 184 hours.

THERE WERE 185 appointments, 167 donors, 16 rejections, 100 replacements, 23 walk-ins and 32 first-time donors.

Receiving pins for their donations were Vivian Smith, Fred Doyle and Linda Brown, one gallon; Evelyn Fitzgerald and Lowell Smith, two gallons; Samuel L. Hedges, three gallons, and Dorothy A. Engle, four gallons.

The seven physicians on duty were Dr. Hugh Payton, Dr. Robert Woodmansee, Dr. Marvin Roszmann, Dr. Joseph Herbert, Dr. Robert Anderson Dr. Philip Binzel and Dr. Ralph Gebhart.

Registered nurses on duty were Clare

Louise Brown, Corrine Sperry, Ann Dorn, Carol Halliday, Gale Roszmann, Florence Purcell, Janet Stahl, Betty Lundberg, Jean Shaffer, Elizabeth Wright and Margaret Sollars. Practical nurses were Vivian Underwood, Barbara Foy and Georgia Minshall.

Staff aides included Vickie Straley, Mrs. Betty Korn, Mrs. Gladys Sexton, Mrs. Mabel Ellis, Mrs. Frank Junk, Mrs. Peggy Perrill, Mrs. La Veryne Bray, Mrs. Elizabeth Miller, Mrs. Nadine Rost, Mrs. Nancy Cupp, Mrs. Mary Dray, Mrs. Roxy Holbrook and

Mrs. Katie Moore.

Canteen workers were Rosemary Persinger, Marie Helfrich, Libby Brown, Virginia Loudner, Mary Brocke, Amelia Child, Dorothy Pensyl and Ruth Parrett.

Contributing to the canteen were Women of the Episcopal Church, Bloomingburg Methodist Church WSCS, Sagar Dairy, Pennington Bakery and Clark's Cardinal Market.

THE NURSERY was staffed by Donna Autrey, Carla Mallory, Mary Wagner, Barbara Niswonger, Ina Edwards, Joy Wilson, Mary Whiting and Lynda Bailo, all of the Welcome Wagon Club.

Drivers were Miss Frances White and Miss Norma Dodd, of the BPW Club.

City employees set up equipment brought by the mobile unit and the Washington Senior High School Junior Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps loaded the equipment before the Bloodmobile's departure.

Taft against public move by President

WASHINGTON (AP)—Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, said Tuesday he doesn't want President Nixon tried "on the courthouse steps" in case of impeachment.

Taft made the comment in rejecting a suggestion by House Republican leader John J. Rhodes that Nixon's best defense might be to present his case in a television and radio speech to the nation.

"The trial ought to be heard within the procedures in the House and Senate chambers," Taft said. "I don't want to try the case on the courthouse steps."

Taft said he would not state publicly his views on whether the President should be impeached, since he is a potential juror in the case.

Taft said he doesn't think the President should resign even if he is impeached by the House. He also told reporters he does not think congressmen will feel much of a political effect as a result of how they vote on impeachment.

The issues is so controversial that as long as constituents believe a congressman uses his conscience and best judgement, Taft said he thinks voters will be tolerant.

Westmoreland in 'voice rest'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retired Army Gen. William C. Westmoreland, who recently lost a bid for the Republican nomination for governor of South Carolina, is undergoing "voice rest" at the Army's Walter Reed Hospital.

The Army said Tuesday that Westmoreland is being treated for persistent laryngitis and is due to be released soon.

The former U.S. commander in Vietnam and Army chief of staff entered the hospital Monday, the Army said.

UMW concentrates on utilities stocks

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — The United Mine Workers union owns stocks that are concentrated in coal-consuming utilities, the union's 1973 financial report shows.

The union's assets of $64.5 million also include 12-month and 90-day bank certificates of deposit, according to the report for the year that ended Dec. 31, 1973, published in the latest issue of the UMW Journal.

UMW Secretary-Treasurer Harry Patrick, in a statement with the report, complained that lack of good records from previous years made the compilation and any comparisons difficult.

The seven-month delay in issuing the report was mostly due to the problems entailed in collecting detailed financial data for the first time in the union's history, he said.

"When I first took over as secretary-treasurer, I found that there was no proper bookkeeping procedure," Patrick said. "This was not only a violation of federal law, but also it kept the union from knowing where it stood financially."

The report covers the first year the union was under President Arnold Miller, who defeated W.A. "Tony" Boyle in a court-ordered election in 1972.

Listed in the report was total income from rents, dues, initiation fees and investments of $9,144,167, compared to total expenses of $9,884,721. The largest expenses were $3,841,534 for salaries, wages and expenses; $1,862,843 for subsidies to districts; and $1,397,107 for administrative expenses.

The union has $25.5 million invested in bank certificates of deposit at the National Bank of Washington, the Bank of Nova Scotia and the American Security and Trust Co. The largest single asset listed is stock in the National Bank of Washington valued at $30.8 million.

UMW real estate holdings, valued at a total of $3.2 million, include five district headquarters and eight pieces of property in Washington.

Stock holdings listed in the report include the Allegheny Power System, Florida Power Corp., Kansas City Power & Light Co., New England Electric System, Ohio Edison Co., Potomac Electric Power Co. and the Virginia Electric & Power Co. The biggest block held is 23,334 shares of Ohio Edison, purchased at a cost of $603,032 and now carrying a market value of $376,261. The union also owns stock in such firms as American Brands, American Can Co., Borg-Warner Corp., E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. and General Motors Corp.

Human body parts found

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Cleveland police said parts of a human body with the hands bound in front of it were found Tuesday night in two boxes in an apartment on the city's east side.

Police said the person may have been dead for years. Detectives were told by neighbors that a woman who rents the apartment apparently has not lived there for more than a year and is believed to be in a hospital.

The coroner's office is to examine the body parts, which were found wrapped in a 1961 newspaper.

Police said the remains were found by two boys who noticed a balcony door to the apartment open while they were retrieving a baseball from the roof of the building.

Rep. Julian Bond eyes presidency

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — State Rep. Julian Bond said Tuesday he may enter several Democratic presidential primaries in 1976.

"It's presently an idea and just that," Bond said.

The Atlanta Constitution quoted sources as saying Bond hopes to win enough support in the primaries to gain bargaining strength at the 1976 Democratic National Convention. The paper said its sources indicated Bond may be looking toward the vice presidential nomination.

Bond, now 34, was placed in nomination for vice president at the 1972 convention, but he withdrew because he was only 32 and too young for the post.

Opening lead — six of diamonds.

Assume you're in three notrump and West leads a diamond. You duck the jack and queen, but win the next diamond with the ace.

After cashing the A-K of clubs you play a spade, finessing the nine, which loses to East's king. Then comes the moment of truth when East returns a heart. You must now decide whether to stake the outcome on a heart finesse or a second spade finesse.

Superficially, which finesse to take seems to be an even-money shot, but actually the odds favor going up with the ace of hearts and staking the outcome on another spade finesse. This is a mathematical proposition, pure and simple, but there is no doubt that in the long run the spade finesse will succeed more often than the heart finesse.

It all goes back to the question of how the two missing spade honors could have been dealt originally. There were four ways, each approximately equal in frequency. Thus, West could have been dealt:

1. The king and queen.
2. Neither of them.
3. The king without the queen.
4. The queen without the king.

Note that the cases where the honors are evenly divided outnumber the cases where East has both honors by a margin of two to one. So, if you lose the first spade finesse to East, the odds remain two to one that the second spade finesse will win — as opposed to a 50 per cent chance on the heart finesse.

Some readers may contend that Case 4 is no longer possible once East had produced the king, but, this argument notwithstanding, the fact is that taking the second spade finesse is twice as likely to succeed as the heart finesse.

Praise for the Family Doctor

They say the old-fashioned doctor no longer exists. I would like to relate an experience that happened to my husband. He suffered a stroke and needed rehabilitation.

A young doctor in our town took the time to do this himself because there is no big medical center where we live. Never have we known greater kindness and diligence. My husband recovered the use of his arm and leg so that now he is almost normal.

Mrs. J.W., Iowa

I am sure my readers and a great many physicians in general practice will be gratified by your letter. I truly believe that the family doctor is the unsung hero of modern medicine.

There are many areas in the country where specialists and "super-specialists" are not available. The family doctor takes on the role of treating every aspect of physical and emotional problems.

Patients who have suffered from strokes that leave them partially paralyzed are in need of rehabilitative medicine. In essence, rehabilitation medicine means restoring patients to physical and emotional well-being.

Recovery from any illness is complete only when the patient is again able to take his place as an active, competent, dignified member of society. When he once again is able to function at full capacity at home and at work, recovery is considered complete.

This is the objective that is hoped to be achieved by the new science of rehabilitation. Dr. Howard Rusk, of New York City, is considered the father of modern rehabilitative medicine. His students and disciples have spread throughout the world and are carrying out his basic principles of rehabilitation.

Every community should have the advantages of some form of rehabilitative medicine. Some of the most ingenious devices have been created to help people who have not completely recovered from their stroke or accident to be able to carry on daily activities with a sense of independence.

With physical therapy, stimulating massage, technical devices, drugs and psychological support many people who formerly would be permanently invalidated are now returned to serviceable and happy living.

Your community has good cause to be proud of the caliber of medical practice that you describe.

Land sales are blocked

WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP) — A land developer near Columbus, Ohio, is being halted from making sales because the developer allegedly failed to meet certain federal guidelines.

The suspension was ordered by the Department of Housing and Urban Development against the Whetstone, Inc., development, Candlewood Lake.

The department's office of interstate land sales registration cited Whetstone for allegedly omitting mention in its official report that the developer had settled a racial discrimination suit last week by signing an agreement to recruit non-white employees and solicit black customers.

The developer also allegedly failed to meet proposed completion dates for facilities at Candlewood Lake and did not indicate planned completion dates for additional facilities, the HUD office said.

The suspension order will remain in effect until the omissions are corrected, the government said.

Wildlife expert battles ulcer

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Euell T. Gibbons, author of "Stalking the Wild Asparagus" and one of the nation's best-known advocates of natural foods, has an ulcer.

It's not that he's been eating too many dandelion greens or drinking too much sassafras tea, the 63-year-old Gibbons hastened to explain after disclosing his ailment on Tuesday.

People need fish, fish need clean water.

Rotary Club to consider promoting tennis in WCH

No program or guest speaker provided an opportunity for considerable informal discussion concerning the popular sport of tennis in Washington C. H. during the regular weekly luncheon meeting of the Washington C. H. Rotary Club Tuesday in the Country Club.

Rotarian John Lachat, who was scheduled to serve as Tuesday's program chairman, announced that the club has become so involved with programs, the idea of fellowship between members has been forgotten.

FOLLOWING Lachat's announcement, informal discussions and general visiting between members resulted.

Later, however, Rotary club member Jim Ward requested assistance from other club members in forming a project to provide more tennis facilities in Washington C. H.

Ward's request attracted a considerable amount of response from the Rotarians, since a number of the club members are presently involved in the men's Monday night tennis league held at the Washington Senior High School courts.

The sport of tennis has gained tremendous popularity in Washington C. H., especially this summer, and the courts at Washington Senior High School, Eyman Park and Gardner Park are constantly filled with players. The Washington C. H. Board of Education has agreed to install coin-operated lighting at the Gardner Park courts to permit night play. The Washington C. H. Jaycees will be installing the light poles and lights, formerly used at Gardner Park Stadium during high school football season, will be used.

Rotarian Milbourne (Pete) Flee, president of the Washington Park Association's board of directors, agreed to meet the local group interested in advancing tennis activity in Washington C. H. and discuss a proposal for the type of facility needed and projected cost estimates.

Some Rotary Club members were of the opinion that there is enough space to establish tennis courts in the Washington Park, near the swimming pool.

THE WASHINGTON Park Association is a Rotary Club-operated organization. All members of the board of directors are Rotarians. The construction of the swimming pool was one of the park association's primary projects.

Ward, an avid tennis player, mentioned during the informal discussion that he had commuted to Columbus from Washington C. H. during the winter months where he played at some rather plush indoor tennis complexes. He said some of the Columbus tennis clubs are equipped with as many as eight indoor courts, pro shops, sauna baths and lounges.

The brief business meeting was conducted by club vice president Bill Williams in the absence of president Paul Crosby. Wade Pierce, of Cincinnati, was a visiting Rotarian and guests were Mrs. Charles (Brenda) Winkle with George Winkle, and Robert O'Neil with Robert Haigler.

Ten building permits issued at city hall

Ten new building permits, including a permit to allow the construction of a new office building in Washington C.H., have been issued at the City Office Building.

City inspector Glenn Tatman said Charles Ware, CCC Highway-E, a Washington C.H. area contractor, has been issued a building permit to construct a one-story brick office building for Gale L. Helms and Associates, consulting engineers and surveyors. The new office building will be constructed in the Van Deman Addition at 222 Oakland Avenue. No cost estimate was given for the 2,176-square foot building.

Helms, Rt. 5, Washington C.H., has his consulting engineering and surveying office located at 319½ E. Court Street.

OTHER BUILDING permits issued at the City Office Building include:

Charles Tye, 722 Fairway Drive, new addition at rear of residence, $3,500; Allen Mossbarger, Ohio 41-N, new residence with attached garage at 232 Kathryn Court, $30,000;

Mark O'Flynn, 704 E. Market St., new garage, $3,700;

Dr. Robert Anderson, 16 Hali Drive, convert garage into bedroom, $1,500;

Wallace bewails impeachment

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)— Gov. George C. Wallace says "it would be a traumatic experience for the nation to have a president impeached."

But Wallace added, in his first public comment on the impeachment proceedings, he doesn't mean to imply that he thinks the impeachment process should be abandoned.

"I just wish the things they are charging President Nixon with had never happened," he said.
